Ceramic Workers Want More Meat For Dinner Pails

Threaten To Join Miners And Steel Workers In Proposed Work-stoppage

MINE UNION HEAD URGES "PATIENCE"

Meat Shortage Hits New Low-National Receipts Down To 25 Per Cent

BY NORMAN AGATHON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—The Ceramic and Brass Workers Unions today added their voice to the growing demand for more meat, bread and flour and threatened to join the soft coal miners and steel workers in a stay-at-home movement, unless substantial food is forthcoming soon.

The two unions bring to four the number of labor organizations who are demanding immediate relief of food shortages. Affects Reconversion

The work stoppage threat of the Ceramic and Brass Workers will seriously effect home construction and the manufacture of electrical appliances and other articles, sorely needed in the nation's reconversion program.

Regional CIO Director Anthony Federoff was more emphatic in his demands for food for the workers than in previous statements. He said:

"These men carry dinner pails. They can't go out and get potatoes and baked beans for lunch to make up for lost energy. They've got to have sandwiches with meat in them."

Federoff said he has asked OPA and the Department of Agriculture to investigate large food producers and distributors to determine whether they are on strike "against the public." The CIO director said he

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Barley appears ripe enough to cut and wheat is turning yellow, while oats is heading up nicely.

After very bad weather thus far this summer, the farmers are taking advantage of the last few hot days to make hay.

PA NEWC

Some of the farmers who tried to cut hay earlier, had it spoil before they could get it in the barn. One man was observed burning his spoiled hay after it was raked into windrows in the field.

Wednesday's hot sunshine brought out the sun tan enthusiasts on the lawns of numerous residences about the city. Quite a few young ladies were seen attired in shorts or other abbreviated dress, stretched out in beach chairs or lying on the lawns.

One proud lad of about 10 years of age was seen in the Arlington avenue, East Washington street area, Wednesday afternoon, displaying a string of about 24 small fish that he had caught in the area near the Lehigh cement plant, just off the Butler road.

Sunday will ring down the first half of 1946. The last half of the year beginning with July 1, will have three more days than the first half. June 30, will make the 181st day of the year.

Corn will be really jump this year if it is going to be the additional "knee high by the Fourth of July," Pa Newc believes. Incessant rains of the past few months have kept the corn from advancing like it should have under normal growing weather.

One of the old type parking meters was the scene of a discussion on North Street Wednesday afternoon. Two out of town young people were not familiar with the operation of the meter and after Pa

Early Peace Hopes Fade At Conference

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, June 27.—Foreign ministers of the Big Four all but abandoned hopes for an early general peace conference today in the face of overwhelming Russo-American disagreement in Trieste.

The weekend deadline set by Secretary of State Byrnes for success or failure of the Paris conference is at hand. The Soviets and western powers are now believed more widely separated than at any time since peace treaty talks began in Moscow.

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov

provided the means to the present impasse at an extraordinary session.

Dual Sovereignty

He proposed that Trieste be made an autonomous district under Yugoslav sovereignty, governed under rules drawn up by the Big Four; or that Italy and Yugoslavia—who both claim the area—rule under dual sovereignty.

Neither solution proved acceptable to Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Bevin or Georges Bidault, French president and foreign minister.

Byrnes attacked the Soviet proposal.

Chester Bowles Wants To Resign

President Truman Hopes To Persuade Stabilizer To Remain On Job

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—President Truman today confirmed persistent reports that Chester Bowles has been seeking to resign as economic stabilizer.

The president told a news conference, however, that he hopes to persuade Bowles to stay on the job.

Latest reports were that Bowles would resign if the much amended OPA extension measure is passed by the Senate and signed by the president.

The president was asked about these reports at his news conference this morning. He said that Bowles had been trying to resign for a good many months, wanting to go back to private life, but that he had persuaded him to remain on before, and hopes he can continue to do so.

Three Sisters Die In Philly Fire

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—(INS)—Three young sisters, all honor students of school, were burned to death today when flames trapped them in their third story bedroom at 1318 Ellsworth street in Philadelphia.

The victims were Marie Castoria, 16, Carmella, 11, and Rose, 13.

The girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Castoria, were sleeping in a bedroom on the second floor of the three-story house.

Castoria leaped from a window onto an adjoining roof. Then he caught his wife, Rose, who leaped after him.

Castoria attempted to re-enter the home to rescue his daughters, who were in a middle room on the third floor, but he was driven back by flames.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Claims Hirohito Blocked Efforts Of Jap Premier

Witness Says Late Father Wanted To Quit Manchuria, In 1932

TOKYO, June 27.—(INS)—A Japanese witness at the Tokyo war crimes trial testified today that Emperor Hirohito ignored a premier's request to withdraw Japanese forces from Manchuria in 1932 but later denied any intent of placing responsibility on the emperor.

Ken Inukai, diet member and son of the late Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai—who was assassinated—testified by affidavit that Hirohito ignored his father's personal appeal that the emperor issue an imperial rescript ordering withdrawal of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

Asked to Explain

Under cross-examination, the witness was asked by a Japanese defense attorney to explain his testimony. The attorney, Jun Hozumi, counsel for Shigenori Togo, foreign minister at the time of Pearl Harbor, added:

"This can mean the emperor may be responsible."

Apparently abashed at the possibility that his testimony may have placed Hirohito in a class with war criminals, Inukai said army opposition prevented the recall of Japanese troops from Manchuria.

The witness explained that he had not intended to convey the idea that Hirohito was responsible and added:

"His majesty was a strong advocate of a peaceful settlement of Manchurian affairs."

The court session was enlivened by a charge from Defense Attorney William J. McCormack of Chicago, who declared that the U. S. army "has 95 per cent of our evidence and is sitting on it."

The charge was made while the 11-nation tribunal was considering a prosecution motion to admit excerpts of certain documents as evidence.

Sir William Webb, Australian chairman of the tribunal, granted the prosecution motion and warned:

Propeller Falls Off, Frightens Motorists; Pilot Makes Landing

"Coming in on a wing and a prayer" was the theme song of Paul Shaw of Volant Wednesday evening, when he lost the propeller of the plane he was flying over the forks of the New Wilmington-Puget all railroad and air express traffic in and out of New York City and the metropolitan area.

Police said hundreds of express company employees failed to report for work on the midnight shift.

The employees said the action was informal and made to "back up our leaders."

A full union meeting has been called for this afternoon to protest alleged "lay-offs" by the company. New York employees number an estimated 5,000 men represented by the Brotherhood of Steamship clerks, freight handlers and express and station employees (AF of L).

Russ Obstinacy With Veto Power Draws Charges

Stormy Session Of Security Council Followed By Criticism Of Reds

NEW YORK, June 27.—(INS)—Russia's three veto votes over majority votes in the United Nations Security Council drew bitter charges today that the USSR is abusing her veto powers and threatening the council's future existence.

The charges followed a stormy six-hour council session which produced only one result of importance, a ruling on the veto power which strengthened Russia's ability to block the wishes of the majority.

Dr. H. V. Ewart, Australian delegate, repeatedly assailed Soviet Delator Andrei A. Gromyko as an obstructionist. He declared Gromyko's continued invocation of the "big five" veto power "threatened the council's very existence" and remarked:

"Mr. Gromyko will have to understand that his 'no' cannot be exercised again and again until the only thing left is his own proposal."

Recalls Pledge

Sir Arthur Cadogan, British delegate, in a BBC radio transmission to Britain, recalled that Russia and the other "big five" nations pledged at San Francisco that they would avoid willful obstruction of council action by use of the veto.

Russia's new invocations of her "big five" veto powers came during bitter council debate over the issue of Franco Spain, which was finally left on the council agenda without further action.

Gromyko who added veto powers when Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera of Mexico, presiding as chairman, ruled that unanimity among the "big five" powers—was required in a vote on whether or not a specific issue was subject to the veto.

Russia's two other vetoes killed a majority vote against the chairman's ruling on the veto power, and an original British and Australian resolution of Spain which Gromyko held to be "too weak."

Promised Showers May Bring Relief

Heavy Rainfall Brings Slight Relief To Two Pennsylvania Counties

By International News Service

The weatherman promised slight relief today from the record heat wave which indirectly claimed seven lives in western Pennsylvania.

A survey showed that five people were drowned while attempting to seek respite from temperatures that soared into the high 90's yesterday.

A man and a woman were killed by a high tension power line cut by lightning during a thunderstorm. The couple was lighting a barn fire near Cambridge Springs at the time of the accident.

Showers Predicted

Weather Forecaster John J. Murphy in Pittsburgh reported that a warm air mass continued to hold off a cold front moving down from the north.

Scattered thunder storms which were expected to drop the mercury at least five degrees were predicted for this afternoon and evening. Yesterday's record high was 91 degrees.

Heavy rainfall brought some relief to sweltering residents in Blair and Bedford counties.

Deshon Hospital Bought For Vets

Governor Martin Announces Butler Hospital To Be Turned Over Today

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—Deshon hospital at Butler was slated today to be purchased by the veterans administration under an agreement provided in a federal government lease with the defunct general state authority.

Gov. Edward Martin announced he had just been notified of the arrangement and that there was "nothing to do but comply."

The transfer will net the state "a little less" than the four million dollars asked, the governor said, but he was unable to estimate the purchasing price. The obligations of the G. S. A. have been assumed by Attorney General James H. Duff.

"It will be big enough to pay off the bonded indebtedness."

The hospital, originally intended for a tuberculosis sanatorium, was leased to the war department in October, 1942. Approximately $7,000,000 was spent by the federal government in converting the buildings for a soldiers' hospital.

Barkley Promises All Night Session As Counter Threat

Texas Senator O'Daniel Says He Will "Talk Bill To Death"

LEADERS CONFIDENT OPA BILL WILL PASS

Bowles Expected To Resign If President Truman Signs Act

BY RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—Senate leaders today threatened an all-night session if necessary to stamp out any filibuster that might delay enactment of legislation continuing the OPA for another year.

Majority Leader Barkley accepted the challenge of Sen. O'Daniel (D-Texas) to "talk the OPA bill to death" and announced that "we'll stay in session until the bill is disposed of."

Barkley said he did not anticipate a night session, but was prepared to hold one if necessary.

Expires Sunday

O'Daniel retorted that he would go his best to talk until the price control act expired at midnight Sunday. If successful, he pointed out, the pending legislation would die also as it merely continues the existing law. He explained that if the law expired new legislation would have to be introduced.

O'Daniel, a confirmed anti-new dealer, summed up his opposition to continued price control in these words:

"It is unconstitutional, un-American, Communist and unnecessary. I hope to finish my speech by Monday. It would be nice after Sunday to live for a while under a good government again."

O'Daniel admitted that no other senators had promised to help him. Colleagues commented that a one-man filibuster until Monday was impossible.

Barkley was confident that despite O'Daniel's opposition the legislation would be disposed of before midnight and sent to the White House. The house on Tuesday approved the comprehensive legislation which continues OPA until June 30, 1947.

Passage Expected

The bill was expected to pass the senate also by a substantial margin. Capitol Hill sources predicted that President Truman would sign the measure as "the best to be had" from the 79th congress.

Presidential approval of the bill was expected to be followed by the

British Cabinet Orders Rationing Of Bread July 21

LONDON, June 27.—(INS)—Official circles reported today that the British cabinet will order bread rationing in England to begin July 21.

The government has been considering the step as a means of diverting more grain to starving peoples throughout the world.

The basic daily ration was expected to be 10 ounces. Expectant mothers and growing children will be allowed 12 ounces and manual workers will be eligible for one pound of bread a day.

With flour rationing also extended to pastry, cakes will probably have an "austerity composition."

Prime Minister Clement Attlee was scheduled for an appearance before Commons today and may make the announcement at that time.

It doesn't seem that long ago, and yet I can't be wrong, it's fifteen years right on the nose, or should one call that long. The years and months have whizzed by each bringing added fun, with problems now and then, of course, but when it's said and done I must confess to happiness, increasing year by year, each day a new-found world has been, each bringing health and cheer. It's fifteen years, it seems like days, each one it seems to me has topped the ones that went before—the weather's ninety-three.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:

Soviet Planning General Clean-up Of Its Industries

Action Follows Tales Of Embezzlement, Misappropriation By Industry Officials

MOSCOW, June 27.—(INS)—Soviet authorities opened a campaign today to obtain disciplined and alert obedience and honesty in government enterprises following the announcement of nationwide embezzlement, sub-standard production and property misappropriation by industrial officials.

The sensational disclosures were linked by foreign observers with the five-year plan recently authorized by the Supreme Soviet. The charges were publicized, it was indicated, to keep industrial officials and workers "on their toes" while Russia attempts to boost factory output.

Simultaneously, the Soviet Union also disclosed that two southern tribes have been forcibly removed from strategic border areas and their "autonomous republics" abolished for traitorous assistance to the Germans during the war.

The government newspaper Izvestia said 25 men and one woman were involved in the charges of malpractice. They were charged with falsifying production figures in order to qualify for bonuses, thefts of factory funds and industrial mismanagement.

The dissolved "republics" were Chechen-Ingush in the Caucasian mountains, near Russia's borders with Turkey and Iran, and Crimea, huddled into the Black sea toward Turkey, Rumania and Bulgaria. Both were renamed "regions".

The tribes are Moslem nomads and regarded as non-Russian. No figures on the population removals were released. Chechen-Ingush had a pre-war population of approximately 700,000, and Crimea's 1-million, 127,000.

CANDLELIGHT MARKS WEDNESDAY WEDDING

Miss Dolores June Kennedy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kennedy, of 1222 Randolph street, became the bride of H. Dale McClendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. McClendon of Grandview avenue, at a double ring ceremony performed by candlelight in the Third U. P. church at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Rev. C. R. Thayer officiated before an altar embankment of palms and ferns.

The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de sole fashioned in train, with fitted bodice with a square neckline inset with a lace voke and edged with a ruffle of mousseline and long sleeves pointed at the wrist. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls in orange blossom design and she carried a white Bible with a marker of white roses, carnations, and streamers.

Miss Geraldine Dufford as maid of honor, wore a gown of delphinium blue lace and net. Miss Shirley Watt, bridesmaid, wore pink marquisette, and Miss Winifred Norris, junior bridesmaid, a yellow net gown. All three wore pink carnation headresses and carried pink carnations.

Best man for his brother was Leon McClendon and ushers were Lewis Cover, the groom's cousin, and Edward Lutz, the bride's cousin.

A prelude of nuptial music and the bridal procession and wedding recessional were played by Miss Lillian Sarver, church organist.

Following the ceremony the bridal party received 125 guests at the home of the bride's parents.

Buffet refreshments were served from a table decorated with pink and white roses and tall white taper in crystal holders. The four-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom before they left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination.

SHOWER GIVEN RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Brinley R. Whiteside, nee Dolores Flansburg, was the recipient of a post-nuptial shower given for her Tuesday evening by Mrs. Francis Tinsley, Rose avenue.

Two tables of bridge and games, too, furnished entertainment for 25 guests.

After play, refreshments were served at a table centered with a large tiered wedding cake. The guest of honor was presented with an array of gifts for use in her new home.

Mrs. E. J. Flansburg and Mrs. Gertrude Rowland assisted the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiteside, who were married here June 15, have taken up residence at 1006 East Washington street.

Miss Mary Lucidore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lucidore, of 11 East Big Run street, and Anthony Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Warren, Montgomery avenue, were united in marriage, Saturday at 9:30 a. m., in an impressive ceremony in St. Vitus church.

Before an embankment altar of ferns and flowers, vows were exchanged with Rev. Fr. Francis Plaut, using the double ring service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was lovely in a white satin and net gown, with long sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a sweetheart cap, and she wore a gold cross, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies, centered with an orchid.

Miss Ann Castrucci as maid of honor wore a blue satin-net gown with pink accessories, and carried pink roses.

Bridesmaids, Celia Lucidore and Josephine Zak, wore pink gowns, blue accessories and pink roses.

Larry DeSemonie was best man. Ushers were: Ralph Lombardo and Patry Picarelli.

A wedding breakfast and dinner for 100 was served at St. Margaret's hall, North Liberty street, and in the evening a reception was held.

The couple departed on a motor wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and Cleveland.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Pears Nations Build International Wall
WASHINGTON—The stalemate between the western powers and Soviet Russia is growing into a sort of Chinese Wall. New stones are being added at the United Nations meeting in New York and at the conference of foreign ministers in Paris, so that soon we shall scarcely be able to look across at one another.

In view of the extreme gravity of this situation, as it develops from day to day, it is important to keep the record straight. Shortly before the current meeting of the foreign ministers, the statement was made in this column that it was regrettable that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes had not at an earlier date pressed his proposal for a 25-year four-power treaty to keep the peace in Europe.

Shortly before he left for the conference now going on in Paris, Secretary Byrnes wrote to me taking exception to the statement and stressing the need to keep the chronology straight. Perhaps the best way to present the record is to quote the relevant paragraphs of the secretary's letter.

"I became secretary in July and immediately left for the Potsdam conference. At Potsdam, the council of foreign ministers was established. Its first meeting was held in London in September. It was during this meeting that I made the treaty proposal to Mr. Molotov.

"It was necessary to first discuss it informally and ascertain how it would be received by the Soviet government. Later, on December 24, I discussed it with Generalissimo Stalin and he agreed to it in principle and said he would support it.

"I announced this history to all the correspondents in Paris on the day I announced that I had made the offer. I emphasized that, instead of first being offered at that time, it had been agreed to by Generalissimo Stalin on Christmas Eve, 1945.

"When Mr. Molotov for the first time questioned Generalissimo Stalin's agreement, I stated at a press conference the history, a copy of which I will enclose for you because I do hope you will help me in keeping straight this record of its being proposed last September. The Paris meeting was simply the forum in which the announcement was made of what had been proposed in September, 1945."

The record enclosed by Secretary Byrnes shows that Stalin said he would "wholeheartedly support" such a treaty if Byrnes proposed it. Apparently Byrnes was still under that belief when he made public the proposal in Paris in April of this year.

If Stalin really meant what he said on December 24—and Byrnes believed that he did—then the first duty is to see if any logical reason exists for a change of mind. In the interview between December 24 and Molotov's rejection of the 25-year treaty, what was the chief single event affecting British-Soviet-U. S. relations? Obviously it was Winston Churchill's speech at Fulton, Missouri, on March 5.

Churchill seemed to have been made with the speech, if not indeed the approval of President Truman.

Running through that speech was the intimation that the Soviet system, alien, secretive, harsh, implacable, could scarcely exist in the same world with the western democracies. At any rate, as read in the Kremlin, it was subject to that interpretation.

The Churchill speech caused the most violent outcry we have heard from Moscow since the end of the war. The masters of the Kremlin have not forgotten, of course, that Churchill became, after 1918, the chief promoter of a holy crusade against Bolshevik Russia. I believe a careful examination of relations before the speech and after would show a striking change that could be directly attributed to the Churchill declaration.

In the light of all this, information which has come to me from a reliable source seems highly significant. In conversation with an important British official, Stalin recently remarked that no one in the Attlee government in London had as yet repudiated Churchill's remarks at Fulton. He said this with considerable feeling, plainly indicating it was a source of rancor. Moreover, he went on to point out that Churchill was still a paid official of the government, which he is under British parliamentary system, as leader of the opposition.

Perhaps the case is hopeless, as we are told so often by those who denounce "appeasers." The headlines on atomic energy, on Trieste and so on—seem to confirm this. But we should not reconcile ourselves to this final disaster until the heads of state have met once again to try to clear the air of the doubt and suspicion. It is time for Stalin, Truman and Attlee to sit down around the conference table to see whether any area of agreement exists.

The State Police Say:
Pennsylvania reported an increase of 31 in highway deaths during the first four months of 1946, as compared with the same period last year. This against the national average of 45%. If these figures reflect the true picture of highway accidents, then Pennsylvania drivers are only half as good or half as careful as drivers of the other states.

Things get no better... There's a liverwurst revolt brewing in New York and Sally Rand has been arrested for having too little clothing.

Miss Rand is one of thousands who has too little clothing these days... but if you ever have seen Miss Rand she positively cannot be called the horrible example of the clothing shortage.

I met an ex-soldier who got a pair of shoes, then walked from the tip of Manhattan to the Bronx looking for a suit... He got the suit but the shoes were worn out.

The delicatessen situation is even worse. One place which used to advertise "From a sandwich to an institution" is considering shifting to "From a sandwich to an institution to what?"

You cannot find a fortune on potato salad and pickles—sweet, mixed or dull.

And if the delicatessens close, millions of bridge games will have to adjourn early.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has had two teeth pulled, according to a London dispatch. Bevin is a fighter. He isn't afraid to call a spade a spade, but I bet you he was afraid of his dentist.

When I was a cub reporter, my city editor in San Francisco sent me to interview Josephus Daniels, then secretary of the navy.

I was scared to death. I had never talked to a man as important as a cabinet member.

I told my boss so.

"What do you mean important?" he asked contemptuously.

"Do you think anybody is important in the middle of the night after a heavy meal?"

"Do you think even a king is important with indigestion, walking the floor in nightshirt and slippers, groaning with a stomach ache, and his wife trying to get him to take some baking soda?"

That was fine advice, and so I went to interview Josephus Daniels, not seeing him in his high hat and cutaway coat and striped trousers, but in a nightshirt, begging his wife for heaven's sake to give him something for his stomach ache.

It worked magic and it has worked magic for me ever since.

Try it some time when you have had to meet somebody considered important.

See him not as the great man in whose presence you quake, but as a human being—even as you and I—with all the aches and pains and frailties and weaknesses to which all men are victims.

There is no such thing as importance.

Certainly we ought to respect the able and the good and the brave.

Certainly they ought to respect themselves—and be humble for their achievements.

But there is no place for either.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Do you have a taste bud? That's a queer question... we are told by authority that almost everyone has a working taste bud. One of the senses of the human body we depend upon each and every mouthful.

Some folks can't taste a thing and therefore their taste buds are not working. Well enough of that... soon we will be talking over our heads and then won't be able to find a place to quit.

What we are really getting around too... isn't it odd how our tastes change? Our foods of today are different than they were just twenty-five years ago. In fact some of my food tastes have changed... once we could sit down and really enjoy some cold cuts... you know what... but today the dish doesn't.

Beating around the bush will never get us to the topic in mind... Did you ever eat Sun Flower Seeds? According to those who are followers of this seed we who haven't partaken of this health-giving food flower don't claim it will cure your aches and pains over night... but they do say that the seed will cause you to become more resistant to many units of vitamin A and D... especially D which you remember is built up by long sunlight upon the soil.

After reading an article... in fact several articles on the eating of sun flower seeds... it stands to reason that if they taste good... they should give forth great quantities of vitamin D. What other plant follows the sun across the skies each day of summer? We are going to get some of these seeds and try 'em. It is said that the seeds are better just as they come from the flower... although some folks like to roast 'em.

So if you hear that we are jumping around and bustin' out just everywhere you will know that the reason can be credited to the sun flower seed. It just goes to show that our taste buds are changing... or maybe we are getting smart in leaving the fancy foods alone.

Only Russia Opposes U. S. Atomic Program

WASHINGTON, June 27. THIS week, the business of getting to grips with the greatest problem of all time will reach a critical stage in the Atomic Energy Commission meeting in New York. There, they will be before the commission two plans.

FIRST, the American plan, which is what Mr. B. M. Baruch, who presented it ten days ago, prefers to have it called and which the unqualified endorsement of President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes truly makes it, and second, the Russian plan, presented by Mr. Gromyko. The latter denounces atomic warfare, urges provisions for control, sanctions and punishment, insists that the manufacture of atomic bombs cease, but wants the whole business to be under the United Nations and the veto power preserved.

THE chief differences between the American and Russian plans are these: (1) We want to abolish the veto, not on the adoption of the plan by which the International Atomic Development Authority is agreed to, ratified and created, but in the operation of that Authority after it has been agreed to, ratified and created—which makes all the difference in the world; (2) the Russians, while proclaiming the same objectives as ourselves do not suggest the practical machinery essential to the achievement of the provisions of any plan. These are not only the chief differences between ourselves and the Russians, they are the only ones.

NEVERTHELESS, the gap is wide and deep and it is difficult to see how effective compromise is to be made. That, however, is what our discussions are now about. In this connection it is interesting to note a number of things concerning the reception of and reaction to the Baruch—or American—report have and in other parts of the world. While Mr. Gromyko's speech and plan were printed in full here in most of the metropolitan papers and widely throughout the country, the Baruch plan and speech were not printed at all in Russia. Brief accounts of the Baruch presentation were given in the Russian press, the gist of which was that the United States had proposed an international pool to the handling of atomic information.

NO mention was made of our offer to destroy all of the existing bombs in our possession and surrender all atomic facts which we have acquired as soon as effective guarantees had been set up to prevent any nation from using an atomic bomb against any other nation. In other words, the Russian people have not the remotest idea of the nature of our proposal. As to the reaction in other countries, it is not exaggeration to say that it has been one of overwhelming and emphatic approval. State Department information which should have been complete and compiled from every capital in the world was somewhat disordered and fragmentary, showing an absence of both diplomatic discipline and executive forthrightness.

BUT enough was received to justify the conviction that the American plan comes pretty close to being thoroughly acceptable to all the world—save only Russia. Of particular interest and importance is the attitude of the little nations, which one way or another have exposed to high officials of this government their complete accord with the American plan. Privately but with intense seriousness, these little nations appeal to us to do two things: first, not to surrender our atomic bombs until there is a complete assurance that no nation will be able to use these bombs as a destructive weapon; second, not to yield on the veto issue once the IADA has been established. There is no disputing the fact that when the little nations ask us not to surrender our bomb secrets, they mean they say so. There is no attempt to disguise the fact that the one nation they distrust is Russia. They say so. While Mr. Baruch has not made—and will not make—any statement on these matters, other than the ones he makes at the committee sessions, those who know him best are convinced that he will never agree to a veto without the guarantees for which we ask are given.

NOR is he in the least likely to yield on the principle of veto abandonment. To create this all-powerful authority to deal with this important problem and then put it in the power of a single nation to paralyze it completely does not make sense. Conciliatory, ready to compromise on everything save the essentials, there is every reason to believe that Baruch regards the elimination of the veto power in the established IADA as a prime essential. And there is a very reason to believe that the overwhelming mass of the American people are in accord with this view. So are almost all the most thoughtful and detached authorities on international affairs. Perhaps there is a way to adjust this difference with the Russians without enfeebling the whole setup. The present job is to find it. So far as this country is concerned, the reaction to the American plan, from Republicans as well as Democrats, has been about unanimous as it well could be. Compulsory of course has come from the Daily Worker. But aside from that, the chief attack has been from the Hearst newspapers—which means from one man.

Why Not Streamline It?

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

AGREEMENT ON CHILD REARING

Always the child loses something in his character development when his parents strongly disagree over his up-bringing.

There are a few fathers, of course, who would never lay the hand on the toddler to restrain him, nor discipline him in any other way. But they are few and far between. More often than not, it is the mother who shies from effective means of controlling the tot.

Many a young mother has not disciplined the young child well because she has supposed from what she has read and heard from the "rank and file" of "child experts" that she should not. Then there are many other mothers who believe they should train the youngster to respect authority and the rights of others but have not hit on successful ways of doing so.

Returning Fathers
Think of the thousands of fathers returning home from the armed forces who find a badly disciplined child at home. Imagine how these fathers feel. Pretty surely there arise strong conflicts between the father and mother over such a child's control and often in the youngster's presence. Besides, the grandparents will, more often than not, side with the mother.

Furthermore, the father's experience has increased his normal regard for obedience in the child. It turns this father up to hear the mother repeating "No" and shouting it repeatedly to the heedless child.

He resolves to train this youngster in obedience right away. Accordingly, he may be exceedingly severe. If he is the mother will grow more lenient and protective toward the child, even coming to his defense when the father corrects him. As a result, the father grows still more severe. If only she would stiffen up herself, he would grow milder.

Wise Mother
Usually this mother would be wise to admit that she has been too lax or easy and would sit down with the father calmly to try to work out with him a plan of more effective discipline of the youngster.

As I have often noted in this column, the average father is less likely than the mother to discipline a child. Between what the young child should never do and what he should do, the father, accustomed to being bossed at his work is inclined to use force to get the tot two or three to come promptly when he calls as well as to respect "No" and "Don't." Especially is he retreating father, inclined to let the tot have his way. But there is a world of difference for this young child.

The mother who makes this discrimination could so much more easily win her husband also to make it. If she were more consistent and effective at training the tot to respect her husband's cooperation, he would win her husband's respect. If she would have trained the tot between three and five, gradually, in obedience to some positive commands. But if, instead, she is inclined to criticize her husband for "being a brute" just because he wants his whole family to be obedient, she may do her whole family no end of harm.

As a rule, the discipline objectives of the returning father are superior to those of the mother. The problem is for him and the mother working companionably together to arrive at these objectives with the least possible discomfort and the greatest possible satisfaction to all concerned.

I do wish all returning fathers would read my bulletins "Stubbornness" and "Fathers Are Parents, Too" to be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

When it came to making good we found many obstacles in our way. Obstacles domestic as well as international. We found it was easier to map programs than to realize them in full. We found that what we had offered as a gift was expected as a duty.

When it came to making good we found many obstacles in our way. Obstacles domestic as well as international. We found it was easier to map programs than to realize them in full. We found that what we had offered as a gift was expected as a duty.

We have muddled and faltered it is true. We might have done better. But we are doing pretty well in comparison with the other nations of the earth. There is no coldness or indifference among the masses of America toward the desperation of the war's tragic victims. If we are at fault, it is because we promised more than we could perform.

MARTINS

Purple martins scorn the earth. Just above they choose to wing. Finding all they hold of worth. Where there is no man-made thing.

Save the house in which they rest. Man has little to bestow. For their food—that daily quest—Swiftly to the winds they go.

Others often tread the ground. Come with men and natural fow. Fight to keep what they have found. And in anger come to blows.

Lucky martins, born to fly. Round and round and round again. Fashioned so you live and die. High above the ways of men!

The World and the Mud Puddles

DAMNED IF YOU DO OR DON'T
It seems to be fashionable just now, both at home and abroad, to castigate the United States for "failure" to do its part in the matter of providing for the destitute millions of the war-ravaged countries. Ignoring our vast contributions of the past and the difficulties which confront our program in the present, certain sources attack us constantly as though we were heartless ingrates, dodging a solemn obligation.

It may be that we have failed, as a people, to appreciate fully the desperation of famine-threatened lands. It may be that we have blundered in our efforts through the UNRRA and other agencies. It is entirely possible that we could do much more than we have done without serious sacrifice.

But the probability is that the reaction of criticism against the United States, particularly that from abroad, is due to our policy of making promises of whose fulfillment we are not certain—or raising expectations beyond the point of fulfillment. It may be also that our efforts have been handicapped abroad by international politics and jealousies—jealousies which may be reflected here in other criticisms of hypochondriac American groups.

All through the war we led the world to believe that our resources were inexhaustible and that our generosity was eternal. We filled the role of Lady Bountiful to civilization in general. We left the interference with the peoples under the Axis heel that their liberation would bring them release from want and fear. It was a fine attitude and we were sincere in expressing it.

When it came to making good we found many obstacles in our way. Obstacles domestic as well as international. We found it was easier to map programs than to realize them in full. We found that what we had offered as a gift was expected as a duty.

FOOD ALLOWANCE RAISED

By an order of the court the allowance for food per day for juveniles held in the detention home has been raised from 60 cents to 70 cents.

REASONS FOR REFUSAL

In a letter to M. Levo and Sons, a copy of which has been filed with the county commissioners, County Controller Andrew M. Dodd gives his reasons for refusing to approve a voucher for $6870 for extra work done upon the West Washington street bridge.

Mr. Dodd cites as his reasons that much of the so-called extra work was in reality in the specifications and that further any additional work should have been advertised. The original contract called for $7840. Most of this has been paid but there is a balance due of $494.

Mr. Levo has the case in court asking for full payment. Testimony will probably be taken in the matter later.

TIN WORK STILL GOOD

Every craftsman has a pride in his work, and it G. A. Perry pointed with pride to the tin work on the porch of the sheriff's home Tuesday it was a justifiable pride. "I put that tin work on the roof 45 years ago," said he, "and it is still good. It needs paint but the tin is good."

There is considerable tin work to be painted on the roofs of the court house and the work is being started.

State Stresses Tax Advantages In 'Ad' Campaign

HARRISBURG, June 27—Tax advantages offered by Pennsylvania in comparison with other northeastern industrial states are described in current national advertising by the State Department of Commerce. "On a per capita basis, combined state and local taxes are lower in Pennsylvania than in any of the other five principal manufacturing states in the northeast," the Department of Commerce states in an announcement authorized by Governor Martin. "Most businesses and individuals find greater tax advantages in Pennsylvania," the announcement continues. "Pennsylvania has no personal income tax and no state sales tax. The local governments do not impose taxes on tangible personal property. There is no state tax on either tangible or intangible personal property in the hands of individuals. "There are provisions for carry-back and carry-forward of corporate losses for purposes of state corporate income tax calculations, which result in an effective average method of determining taxable income. There is a law on the statute books which goes into effect on the first day of the first year after the cessation of hostilities is declared, which exempts manufacturing corporations from capital stock taxes on capital invested in and actually employed in manufacturing operations.

Observers May Cruise Equator After Bomb Test

Press Correspondents Object To Plan For USS "Panamint" To Make Five-Day Cruise

ABOARD USS PANAMINT, Bikini-Bound, June 27.—(INS)—A suggestion was advanced today that the USS Panamint take off on a cruise across the Equator immediately after the atomic bomb is dropped on Bikini lagoon.

Sponsor of the cruise suggestion was Col. Horace E. Smith, U. S. army chief of the observer's group aboard the Panamint.

Smith called for a vote on the proposal at a meeting of the 42 civilian scientists and United Nations representatives aboard the ship. The army officer said the USS Panamint, press ship, planned to "wallow" around Bikini until word was received that it would be safe to enter the lagoon following the explosion.

Objections were promptly made to Smith's proposal—particularly by representatives of the three press associations aboard the Panamint. Objectors pointed out that the cruise would take five days and that passengers might view damage from the atomic bomb long after those aboard other ships.

Some scientists viewed the suggestion favorably and Smith, asking each passenger to hand in a vote, posted a notice on the bulletin board reading: "Do you desire to cross the Equator after the bomb test?"

Meanwhile, Lieut. (JG) Donald W. Osten, of Jamaica, Long Island, hard-working mess and berthing officer on the Panamint, was wrestling with the problem of accommodating 45 additional passengers. The new passengers will come aboard when the Panamint reaches Kwajalein Friday morning.

They include congressmen, special observers, air corps officers and members of President Truman's evaluation committee who took the air route to the mid-Pacific atoll. Young Osten, a master of tact and diplomacy, was arranging for doubling up of passengers and because of his unfailing good manners and efficiency was receiving 100 per cent cooperation and no complaints.

Penal Officials Are Orientated

Truman Names Group To Gauge Foreign Lending

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—President Truman has appointed a committee of 12 bankers and industrialists to frame recommendations for financing international reconstruction.

The president said that the committee will work closely with the National Advisory Council in the formulation of a national policy on foreign lending.

The president said: "I have appointed this committee of citizens of knowledge and experience because our foreign trade, export and import, must in the long run be privately handled and privately financed if it is to serve well this country and world economy."

"It is true that for the immediate present governmental help is needed in order to get our foreign trade underway. But I am anxious that there shall be the fullest cooperation between the governmental agencies and private industry and finance. Our common aim is the return of our foreign commerce and investments to private channels as soon as possible."

Members of the committee are: Herbert H. Pease, New Britain, Conn.; Champ Carver, Chicago, Ill.; Walter J. Cummings, Chicago, Ill.; M. G. Gannett, San Francisco, Calif.; G. Hoffman, South Bend, Ind.; Edward Hopkinson, Philadelphia; Fowler McCormick, Chicago; Irving S. Olds, New York; Gordon S. Rentschler, New York; A. W. Robertson, Pittsburgh; Winthrop W. Aldrich, New York; and Tom K. Smith, St. Louis.

State's Evidence Given By Former Black Marketer

Confessed Kentucky Used Car
Black Market Dealer Testifies
Against Others

DETROIT, June 27.—(INS)—A confessed Kentucky used car black market dealer testified Wednesday in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring in a four-million dollar automobile black market.

Thomas C. Doran, 35, of Murray, Ky., originally a defendant, told the all-woman Federal court jury that he sold cars purchased above ceiling in Detroit to the alleged ring leader, Ben Fishel, 33, of Cairo, Ill.

Identifies Defendants
Doran also identified the other six defendants as operating with Fishel.

U. S. Atty. Joseph C. Murray said charges against Doran were dismissed when he agreed to testify against the others.

Twenty-two other men involved in the alleged black market pleaded guilty and now are awaiting sentence.

Doran told the court that when cars were purchased they were driven to Fishel's used car establishment in Cairo. The witness said that two checks always were written. He explained that one indicated the car had been purchased at or below ceiling price, and the other for the amount above the legal price.

Doran testified Fishel employed a large staff to handle the business.

Five Detroiters testified yesterday that they had been approached by the defendants and offered above ceiling prices for their cars.

Soldier Gets Home And Finds His Son On Way To Recovery

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—(INS)—

The daddy he called for while he was near death in a Pittsburgh hospital is now a reality to six-year-old Danny Schapper of East End.

His father, Pfc. Daniel Schapper, arrived in Pittsburgh Wednesday after a five-day trip from Manila, where he is stationed.

The child, who fell in the street near his home and suffered a ruptured spleen on June 6, made a rapid recovery during the last few days and was sent home before his father arrived.

Pfc. Schapper was given "urgent priority" to come home two weeks ago when it was believed his son might not live. He was unable to leave Manila until last Friday.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may starve, nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning, sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rev. K. M. Taylor To Preach Sunday

Minister To Begin His Sixth Year
As Pastor Here Of St. Luke's
A. M. E. Zion

REV. K. M. TAYLOR

Rev. K. Melvin Taylor, who for the past five years has been pastor of St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church, has returned along with his conference workers from attending the 31st session of the Ohio conference of the A. M. E. Zion church. The assembly took place in the Caldwell Temple church, Columbus, O. Dr. A. L. Fuller is minister of the host church, and Bishop John W. Martin of Chicago, Ill., presided at the conference.

The conference opened Wednesday, June 12, and continued through Sunday, June 16, when the appointments of pastors for the year were read. Rev. Taylor was reappointed to the pastorate of St. Luke's church, this city, for the sixth year. Rev. Taylor, a young man of daring aggressiveness, holds important positions in the annual conference. He is chairman of the permanent committee of the board of examiners for candidates for ordination to the elders order and is also secretary of the finance committee.

At Chicago Conference
Returning to the city on Monday morning, Rev. Taylor left Tuesday for Chicago, Ill., to attend the annual conference of the district of Michigan, Ill. At that conference he was appointed to serve as chairman of the district elimination sesquicentennial oratorical contest which will be held in conjunction with the annual conference. The winner of this conference will compete with other contestants from North Carolina, South Carolina and Ohio in Cleveland, O., on Tuesday, August 20.

Rev. Taylor and members of St. Luke's church are making plans to attend the opening of the sesquicentennial anniversary of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in New York City September 9 to 22.

Rev. Taylor has been appointed as a representative from the Third Episcopal district, which comprises the Michigan, Cape Fear and Ohio conference, to work with Parole Commissioner Battle of New York City to make arrangements for the program that will be presented in Madison Square Garden.

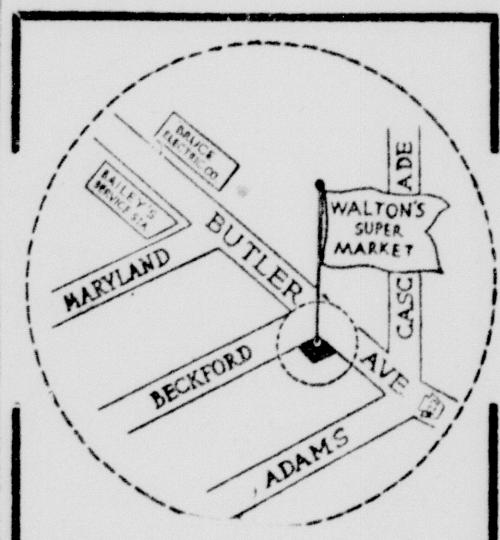

To Preach Sunday

Rev. Taylor will preach his initial sermon for the conference year Sunday morning, June 30, at 11 o'clock, using as his theme, "Christ, the Only Hope of a Troubled World." The annual church meeting will be conducted in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, when the conference report will be made, and officers to serve for the conference year will be elected.

The many friends of the local minister welcome him back to this city and wish for him a year of success along all lines in his work. He is a graduate of Bowdoin college, Portland, Me.

During the five years of Rev. Taylor's pastorate the basement of the church has been finished and the dining room has been redecorated. The congregation has finished paying for the furnace of the church, and plans are now being made to carpet the auditorium of the church and also redecorate it.

Salvation Army Camp Dedication

Camp Allegheny, In The Vicinity
Of Ellwood City, Will Be Dedicated On July 4

Plans are being made for the formal dedication of Camp Allegheny which will be held July 4. The camp, which was purchased by the Salvation Army for use as a summer camp both for Salvation Army youngsters and underprivileged children, will open July 1. Commissioner Ernest Pugmire of New York, who is eastern territorial commander, will be in charge of the dedication service. Arrangements are being made for a special bus to be chartered for those wishing to attend the dedication.

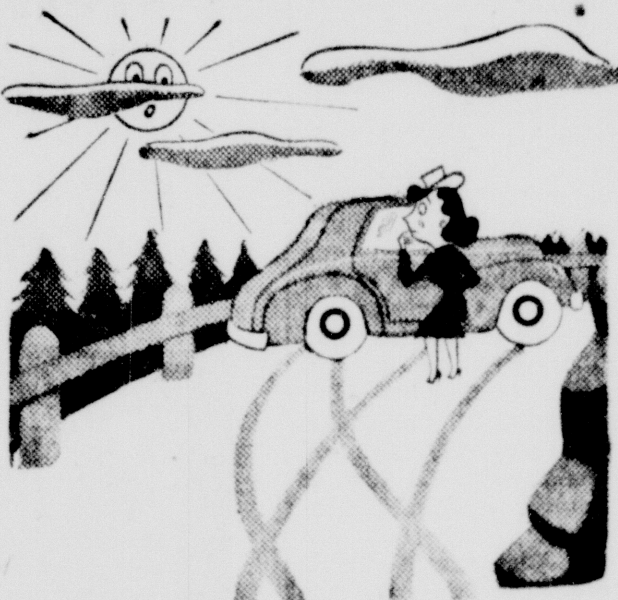

Three groups from the local corps which will attend the camp are the Salvation Army Boys' group, the Sunbeams, a girls' group and the Junior Bondsmen, during the month of July. The camp will be occupied during the month of August as a "fresh air camp" for the underprivileged children both of New Castle and Ellwood City. Names of children in this group are submitted by the Department of Public Assistance, the Tuberculosis Society and teachers of schools in these districts.

Children in the Sunbeam group are raising funds to attend the camp and have been given contributions from many local stores and business offices. Misses Betty Flickinger and Patricia Hiler are leading in securing funds. A prize will be awarded to the winner.

Garden Notes

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

STILL TIME FOR THRIFTY GARDENER TO START NEW CROP. Beets and cabbages may be seeded this month, perhaps in space where other kinds of earlier crops have been harvested.

Late-planted beets and carrots will be tender and not overgrown. Endive does best when sown in mid-July and thinned to about 8 inches in the row. Cucumbers and late cabbage may be started now, while bush snap beans will do all right if started up to mid-July. Celery for fall and winter may be set out for another three weeks. Squash Bugs Destructive Squash bugs, which prey on squash and pumpkin plants, are difficult to kill in the adult stage, unless trapped under boards, but newly hatched nymphs are susceptible to insecticides, such as a strong nicotine spray. This is made from 1 tablespoon of nicotine sulfate and 1 tablespoon of soap flakes or soap chips mixed in 2 quarts of water. If this spray covers the nymphs it will kill them. Pyrethrum spray or dust also is effective. Use it according to manufacturer's directions. Keep Weeds In Control Control of weeds in the garden is just as essential for late crops as it was for those already harvested.

Assignment America By KENNETH L. DIXON

Aftermath Tragedy Of War In Evidence At Letterman Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO—This uneasy peace has been upon us almost a year now, but San Francisco still remains a partial war-station of war—its murky waters still roiled by the wake of Mars.

Most of the traffic in and out is cheerful now, albeit a bit upset by foreboding clouds over Bikini.

But there are people who feel it wouldn't matter much if an atomic-bomb tidal wave washed inland across the country—and there are places where it would take that much water to cleanse forever the scars and stains of several wars.

Through Three Wars Letterman general hospital here has served as a debarkation hospital for the wounded through three wars—the Spanish-American, World War I and World War II. It is one of ten army general hospitals in the United States, and was organized in 1898 to receive troop casualties from the Philippine insurrection.

It has a capacity of some 3,000 beds. It specializes in neurology, neurosurgery, radium therapy and deep X-ray treatments. It also is an amputee center and a neuropsychiatric center.

But those are just words—words which futilely seek to describe the endless efforts to repair and replace the destruction wrought by war on the human body and mind. It goes on day after day, month after month, year after year, for the people to whom peace has never come.

Walk through these wards on a Sunday afternoon, and your sheer exuberance over peace will swiftly evaporate and leave you with a sense of shame for having forgotten so soon.

Outside these walls springs the rich, lush beauty of the California countryside in all the green magnificence of sprouting, bursting, budding life.

Inside them lie the blind, the deaf, the armless, the legless, the unsexed, the vacant-eyed and the gibbering—many of them world-damning examples of living death.

Cheated Living Death Inside too, lie many who have cheated that living death—men who, with a courage that chokes the throat, have contrived somehow to conquer those handicaps handed them harshly in the heat of battle.

Almost unbelievably, those men laugh and joke about their physical plight and make cheerful plans for a pleasant future. The difference between the hopeless and the hopeful is mostly a matter of overcoming the initial shock at their condition," said Lieut. Col. Thomas McKenna, snow-haired Catholic chaplain who is better known to thousands of wounded of the last two wars as "Father McKenna."

For six years, the stocky little Irishman, just after the last war, he did the same at Walter Reed hospital in Washington—for 65-year-old Father McKenna has claimed Uncle Sam as his straw boss for more than a quarter of a century now. What has it taught him in helping the wounded?

"Last war and this one both," he said, "it's getting over that first shock that's the big hurdle. Then the job is to show the boys that their plight is not hopeless."

Example Shown They try to do that the graphic way. By similar example, countless amputees, back in business again, come out regularly to show the boys what can be done in spite of handicaps. Jimmy Farrar is a good example. Long ago Jimmy lost both hands on Guadalcanal. Today, you find Jimmy out at the hospital's auto-instruction center, one double-amputee teaching another to drive a car.

Another case is Corp. Edward Terry who has spent more than two years in army hospitals since a grenade gashed off both hands, gouged and burned his face and chest, disfiguring and temporarily blinding him. There was only bleak despair in Terry's tortured chest.

But Terry figures he's pretty well patched up now. Mental condition? Well, he's going back to the University of Indiana to study law in a few weeks. Physical condition? Well, he married his nurse the other day.

Those are some of the many to whom hope returns. Elsewhere, through the wards, your soul is tickled by the sight of those for whom there seems no hope—those who only wait for death.

And if you are as cowardly as this correspondent, you stumble blindly back into the sunlight, swiftly and wish for days you could forget—and damn yourself for wishing.

Patterson For Plan Aimed At Service 'Caste'

With Few Suggestions Secretary Of War Approves Doolittle Anti-Caste Plans

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—"GI-brass" relationships took a turn for the better today with Secretary of War Patterson's approval of a sweeping majority of the Doolittle board's anti-caste recommendations.

Patterson objected, however, to a proposal by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle and his five co-investigators of the "caste" system that both officers and enlisted men be termed just "soldiers." He stressed that the basic concept of command and authority in the army is sound.

The war secretary compromised on the two recommendations that all military personnel be allowed when off duty to pursue normal social patterns "comparable to our democratic way of life" and that all customs discouraging social association because of rank be abolished.

Patterson declared: "The solution of this problem is a matter of common sense. The abolition of all off-duty restraint upon social association of officers and enlisted men might lead to more dangerous abuses than those which this proposal intends to correct."

"It is clear enough, for example, that gambling among personnel of different ranks should not be tolerated. At the same time, there is no valid reason to prohibit all social contacts between officers and enlisted men."

In announcing approval of proposals giving GIs the following breaks, Patterson said that "certain action already has been taken upon them; other action will be taken in the future, and some of the new measures will require passage of legislation by congress."

1. Approval in principle of recommendations that "all" military personnel be given a sense of security through equitable distribution of allowances of food, clothing, travel pay, quarters, pay increases and assurance of chance for advancement.

2. Provision of regulations and instructions to stipulate limited privileges to officers and to prohibit abuses of authority.

3. Review of the system of promotion and establishment of a better procedure for eliminating incompetent and undesirable officers.

4. Accumulation of leave or furlough time by GIs along with officers and approval of pending legislation that terminal leave pay also be granted on the same basis.

5. Abolition of regulations, if any, which forbid use of discrimination preferences, such as "officers and their ladies," enlisted men and their wives.

6. Abolition of hand salute except on special occasions.

7. Approval of recommendation that a new system of awards be established to provide more equitable distribution and prohibit distribution to a degree tending to "cheapen" medals.

8. Further study of the so-called "caste" system to extract additional ideas for improving GI-officer relationships.

Possible Sugar Rationing In 1948

CHICAGO, June 27.—(INS)—Sugar rationing will continue well into 1947 and possibly into 1948. The prediction was made by an OPA official and sugar industry spokesman in speeches last night before the National Confectioners Association in Chicago.

Both speakers declared the supply of sugar for domestic consumption would not meet unrestricted demands for the commodity during the next year or longer.

Geoffrey Baker, deputy OPA administrator of price control at Washington, predicted that the sustained demand for sugar for foreign shipment "probably would make rationing necessary for another year beyond April, 1947."

Earl B. Wilson, president of the California & Hawaii Sugar Corp., of San Francisco said that even though sugar supply prospects were substantially better for 1947 "I would say there can be no increase in the rate of rationing until the second quarter of 1947." He added.

"It is hoped all sugar rationing can be eliminated not later than early in 1948."

SEEK BETTER WAY TO DIVIDE SCOTCH, BONDED WHISKIES

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—The state liquor control board today was attempting to devise a more equitable system for distributing scarce Scotch and bonded whiskey to consumers.

State store superintendents from the 24 areas, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh yesterday discussed with the board the feasibility of posting advance notices in stores where supplies would be available, officials reported. They also considered notifying consumers on an alphabetical selection basis, it was added.

Scotch and bonded whiskeys stocks were reported to be 50 per cent of normal supplies, the board reported.

LIQUID FUELS TAX PAYMENT APPROVED

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—The payment of liquid fuels tax counties was approved today by Auditor General G. Harold Wagner. The money represents one-half cent of the three cents a gallon tax on gasoline allotted to counties for road improvements by the General Assembly last year. The current payment constitutes returns on collections during the half year ended June 1, Wagner reported.

Allocations have not been approved yet for 12 counties, Wagner added.

New Document For DP's Will Be Issued Soon

Printed In Seven Languages, Documents Will Be Given Thousands By Red Cross

GENEVA.—(INS)—A new document of status for the hundreds of thousands of Europeans without a country has been established by the International Red Cross to take the place of the famous Nansen passport, issued after the last World War.

Drawn up in seven languages, and bearing the number 10,100, this document has been established because of the need of the countless persons without a country to obtain some kind of identification.

Most of these persons belong to countries which have undergone serious political modifications during the course of the war—mainly the Balkan and Baltic states—and they possess no authorized papers. Furthermore, the losses of official papers made more acute by the destruction of many state archives in bombing raids.

In Folder Form
The Red Cross document is intended to aid exiles of war, internees, civilian refugees and deportees on their return voyage. However, the International Red Cross has stated that it does not constitute a paper of legitimization and that it will not be responsible for any of the document holders.

Document 10,100 is in the form of a folder, with the name of the International Red Cross on the cover along with the stamp of the delegation which delivers it.

Several pages within the cover contain details permitting identification of the holder, mainly form- place of detention and intended destination.

Issue Special Edition

A special edition of the document, number 10,100, will be issued to persons claiming Balkan nationality. A further identification was recently delivered to refugees who do not want to return to their original country. This paper was issued to aid them on their journey and entrance into another country.

The famous Nansen passport was issued to stateless refugees after the First World War when the International Red Cross submitted a memorandum to the League of Nations proposing a solution of some kind.

The Nansen passport was the result of long negotiations, and was the first international identity card to be used. Since then, all refugees have benefited from this precedent in international law.

Riviera Has First Gambling Suicide

NICE.—(INS)—For the first time since the war, the Riviera has had a typical gambling suicide.

Nice police found the bodies of an Italian baron and a woman who had committed suicide by gas after heavy losses.

The man was 50-year-old Vittorio Franzosini, who was found clasp a croupier's rake. Gambling counters, from various casinos and playing cards were scattered all over the room.

The woman was 41-year-old Henrietta Grigaut who was believed to have made a suicide pact with the baron. Both were well-known at Monte Carlo and other Riviera resorts.

According to police, the baron lost over two million francs overnight.

Lead Doors To Protect Film In Atomic Bomb Test

One-Inch Thick, Huge Doors Will Protect Camera Equipment During Tests

ELIZABETH, N. J.—(INS)—Seals of doom might be as apt a description of a shipment made from Elizabeth recently. The other end of the long journey, almost half way round the world, will be Bikini atoll —where atomic chaos will be let loose, and observed, in July.

The shipment consisted of doors—but they are very unusual doors. They are of lead, one inch thick. Two larger ones weigh 2,520 pounds each; four not so large, tip the scales at a mere 1,900 pounds—not counting the anti-friction bearing and hydraulic mechanism which has been built to close them.

The doors have been designed and built to seal in safety—as a protection against atomic radiation—cameras and films of the photographic batteries.

Perched On Towers
Each battery will be perched on top of a 70-foot steel tower within an inch-thick lead cabinet. These have floor measurements of approximately five by eight feet. The larger lead rooms are nearly six feet tall; the others, about four feet. The larger "caskets" weigh 16,000 pounds; smaller ones 13,000.

The problems arising in this phase of the atomic bomb experiments were handed to O. G. Kelley & Co. of Elizabeth.

Apparently not much is known about the radiation which follows an atomic bomb explosion—except that there's a lot of it. And photographic film is very sensitive to such radiation. That is why cameras and their precious film recording of this epochal event will be temporarily entombed in inch-thick lead immediately upon completing their picture-taking job. A radio impulse from the "master plane" will start the door-closing mechanism.

Against the wall and doors of leaden fortresses, atomic radiation can hammer away for weeks, harmlessly. Scientists are certain that the filmed records of chaos let loose will be safe from any "fogging".

BREAKS PRECEDENT

BOSTON.—(INS)—Twenty-four-year-old Edith Baker, a former Wave, has become the first woman in history to hold an executive state department office of a veterans' organization. She was chosen adjutant of the Massachusetts Jewish War Veterans at the 15th annual election.

Twelve Wives Disprove Old Kitchen Adage

MUNCIE, Ind.—(INS)—The wives of 12 veterans daily disprove the old adage that "two women cannot work in the same kitchen". They all use the kitchen of the Frank C. Ball residence in Muncie, made available to the Ball State Teachers' college by Ball Brothers' Foundation for rental to married veterans.

This arrangement makes it easier for recent brides, who are eager to learn new recipes from more experienced cooks. They provide their own cooking utensils, linen, silver, and bedding and each family uses the community kitchen.

Also, the spacious, beautifully furnished living rooms on the first floor of the mansion are used by all—as are the large recreation and basement laundry rooms. Sleeping quarters and study rooms are located on the second and third floors.

The Army, Navy, Marines and Air Corps are all represented by the veteran students who are now seeking a college degree.

Toe nails may cause a lot of trouble if not properly cared for.

Frank Baughman, Paralyzed

Still Living

Frank Baughman, age 33, shot and critically wounded by a bullet from the gun of City Policeman Frank Macchia when he tried to evade arrest Wednesday morning in Phillips street between South Mill and Agnew streets, is still living in the New Castle hospital according to reports today.

Macchia stopped Baughman to quiz him regarding an article, which proved a bed spread, which he was carrying, and Baughman reportedly struck the policeman with it, fled, reached toward a rear pocket and was shot, according to the policeman's report to headquarters. The wounded man was unarmed, it developed.

A charge of suspicion and resisting arrest was placed against the wounded man.

YOUTHFUL SLAYER OF THREE YEAR OLD HAS HEARING WAIVED

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—A preliminary hearing was waived today by counsel for John Howells, 14, of Harrisburg, charged with the murder of three-year-old Margaret Ann Vaughn in suburban Lawnton.

The youth has been confined to the Dauphin county prison while undergoing mental tests, according to District Attorney Carl B. Shelly. The boy was held for the September term of court.

The child was strangled to death after Howells attempted to criminally assault her, according to state police.

Estimate Damage As $1,250,000 In May Flood Period

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—The cost of replacing 38 bridges and reconstruction of many miles of roads damaged in the May flood was estimated today at $1,250,000 by the state highway department.

All of the temporary bridges erected to replace those "washed out" by the raging flood waters will be replaced by permanent structures, according to Secretary Ray F. Smock.

Approximately 16 miles of highways must be replaced while "a considerable amount of patchwork" will be necessary to restore roads which had been inundated, he said.

Gov. Edward Martin reported representatives of the department of forests and waters were mapping a program for restoring diverted streams to their original beds.

"Many streams changed their courses, particularly in Lycoming, Tioga and Clinton counties," he reported. "Secretary James A. Kell and his representatives are endeavoring to find a way to restore them to their proper channels."

The governor said Kell had made a report on flood damage, but did not estimate damage or suggest remedial recommendations.

MOWING IMPORTANT IN PASTURE CARE

The heavy rainfall of late May and early June has brought on the grass so quickly and in such quantity that in many instances it has gotten ahead of the livestock, and mowing probably is in order, unless this already has been done.

Mowing the pasture at this time will get rid of unpalatable and un-eaten growth and will give the grass a chance to make regrowth. Mowing now also will prevent the seeding of many of the weeds in pasture fields.

Uncut, long growth of the pasture grasses will suppress the clovers which are of key importance in pasture. Mowing makes for more uniform growth and appearance in the pasture.

Australia exports about 70,000,000 rabbit skins annually to the U. S. for the manufacturing of felt hats. Each hat will use the material of from three to four skins.

Kiwanians Hear Convention Data

Delegates To 31st Annual Convention In Atlantic City Report On Meeting

New Castle Kiwanis Club members heard an enthusiastic report from their three delegates to the 31st annual convention of Kiwanis International, held at Atlantic City, June 9-13 at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday.

These delegates, Past Presidents Tom Paden, Sam Lewis, and John J. Alexander, told of the fine and inspirational addresses given by outstanding national figures, the theme of the convention being "Build for Peace, Unity, and Opportunity."

Outstanding speakers included General Omar L. Bradley, head of the Veterans Administration; Hon. Lionel Chevier, minister of transport for Canada; Hon. Clare Booth Luce; William K. Jackson, president of the U. S. chamber of commerce; Hon. Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture, Harold E. Stassen; and Drew Pearson.

In addition to these fine speakers, a number of panel discussions were held, which developed some splendid ideas which the local club will be asked to put in practice during the coming year.

Kiwanis International now numbers 2,400 clubs with a membership of 162,000 which is steadily being increased, and is doing a splendid job of service to the home communities in which these 2,400 clubs are located, the delegates reported.

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The apostles preaching in Jerusalem.

"Go ye into the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation."—Mark 16:15

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 30 is Mark 15:13, 16:19-20; Luke 24:45-49; Acts 2:46, 47, 5:42; the Memory Verse being Mark 16:15. "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation.")

This lesson is the last of the series on the Friends of Jesus. In it we see how Jesus gave final instructions to His apostles and how they carried on His work.

In Luke 24:45 we read, "Then opened He their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures."

And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations beginning at Jerusalem.

And ye are witnesses of these things. "And, behold, I send the promise" of My Father upon you but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high." This was said on Sunday after the resurrection. Before He left them and they started their work He commanded that they tarry awhile until the Holy Ghost descended upon them—the power was given them, and they could go forth fortified with this power to preach, teach and heal.

Of Jesus' ascension Mark tells us, "And He said unto them, Go ye into the whole world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be condemned."

"So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, He was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God."

"And they went forth and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following. Amen."

Ascension on Mt. of Olives

The ascension occurred on Thursday, May 18, the traditional site being the Mount of Olives, across from Jerusalem. After that they carried on His work faithfully, not in far places where they were not known, but in Jerusalem where their faces were familiar. You remember how the Holy Ghost descended upon them; how they were given power to speak in strange tongues; and of the great sermon Peter preached after.

No longer afraid for themselves, caring only to bring the message to men, they spoke fearlessly and powerfully converting many. Luke, in the Acts, 2:46, 47, says, one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart.

"Praising God, and having favor with all the people. And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

These men, sometimes foolish in their acts and speech, afraid for their lives, when the Lord was with them, now became veritable lions in their fearlessness. They defied the authorities to give the message their Master had left with them.

And, moreover, they were joyful as we all would be if we cast fear out of our lives and lived as Jesus told us to. They assembled each day in the temple to take part in the ceremonies of the church. At one another's homes they met after the day was over "breaking bread" as the Bible says, sharing the evening meal, while giving thanks to God for food and shelter, and, above all, for the power that had been given them to preach the gospel and to carry on the work that their Friend and Lord had commanded them.

"And every day, in the temple and at home, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus as the Christ." These were humble men, most of them not educated according to our standards. Yet they had the power to convince men of the truth of their message because they so intensely believed it themselves and drew power from that belief Jesus had commanded them. "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation," and they did it.

Good Taste

By Francine Markel

DON'T WEAR PARTY CLOTHES TO OFFICE

"Next week, I shall attend a dinner at the home of my employer, but will not have time to go home in the suburbs to change. Although we are not wearing evening clothes, I expect to wear a black street-length dress (very fussy with cap sleeves). Would it be in good taste for me to ask my employer if I may change my clothes at his house?"

Answer: Take your dinner clothes case. If you know his wife or daughter intimately and know that they would welcome the intrusion, call either of them on the telephone and ask if it would be perfectly convenient for you to change at her home just before dinner. But if you have the slightest hesitation on this point, change in the women's restroom of your office building or of a nearby hotel or in your private office after your employer and the other men of the staff have left. But on no account, wear your fussy clothes at your office throughout your working hours as nothing is in poorer taste than to appear at one's desk in conspicuous fussy clothes.

Question: My husband was killed in the service in 1944. I now plan to remarry and would appreciate it very much if you would inform me of the correct way to go about it. (1) Am I correct in assuming that I may marry in church in street clothes with just my maid of honor and a best man? (2) Should it be private or may invitations be sent to a few of my closest friends?

Or should merely announcements be sent?

Answer: (1) Yes. You may have a church wedding with only two attendants—a maid of honor and a best man. No bridesmaids, who belong in a formal wedding only. You may have ushers if they are required. (2) You may send out invitations to all of your friends and relatives or you may have as few guests as you please. Your parents may issue invitations. The only restriction is that you must not wear white bridal clothes which are reserved for maidens only.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

IN THE OPEN

I stood on the edge of a sluggish stream which follows a winding channel through the marsh and finally loses itself in the head of a sizable reservoir. The muck grabbed at my boots as I carefully impaled an angletail on a size four sneek hook. All about me redwing blackbirds scolded, hovering overhead while ordering me out of their cattail preserve in the shrill shout they use for this business. Swallows perched on the wires by the roadside and made occasional sorties out across the water, picking up mosquitoes and gnats and other insects.

Across the marsh a green heron eyed me nervously from the safety of a perch to which he had fled with much loud squawking when I came on the scene. The half submerged paths dredged out by active muskrats crisscrossed this area, and I could see where they had smashed down the lush growth while feeding on the adjacent higher ground. A slender green snake, the first I had seen in several years, swam gracefully across the meandering stream, and came out almost at my feet.

Water Still Murky
The water was still murky from heavy rains of the recent weeks, and I had some doubts as to the possibilities of hooking into anything worth while. When all was in readiness I made an underhand cast, flipping the bait high in the air so that it came down on the sluggish current with a good loud "plat" notifying all fish in the neighborhood that lunch was being served. A black winged dandel fly, with iridescent green body, darted in to make a pass at the worm as it sailed along in a lazy arc.

The bait had barely drifted below the surface when there came a surging drive across the water and the rod tip responded to a solid strike. I struck immediately and was fast to a deep bodied bluegill sunfish, who felt like a real he-man as he gamely battled the light trout tackle with which I had rigged for the afternoon's sport. This first fish was about as big as they grow in these waters, so I filed him away for future reference at table.

Silver Spotted Butterflies
A clump of swamp milkweed stood tall and heavy with bloom by the streamside. Several of the silver spotted butterflies, known as fritillaries, hovered hungrily over this nectar-laden rendezvous, staging an airy dance of shimmering beauty in the brilliant sunlight. I stood lost in admiration of this butterfly dance, completely forgetting the more serious business of fishing. A pair of bloodthirsty deer flies brought me rudely back to the realities of life, each scoring a vicious nip at my epidermis before I dislodged them.

The same tactics scored two more sizable bluegills from the deep pocket where the stream loses its identity at the head of the dam. Both were lip-hooked and I returned them unharmed, and perhaps wiser, to the water. I moved further down the shady side of the reservoir and selected a spot where the ferny hornwort did not mat so thickly as to clog the retrieve with its green slimy. Here I fished close off shore, finding the bluegills feeding in the shallow water which had begun to clear, rather than in their usual haunts farther out.

Gamest of Fish
The bluegill, in my book, is by far the gamest of all freshwater fish for its size. It has a very bad habit of grouping in schools and the patient angler who chances onto one of these schools can usually take every fish in the group. For an hour or two I enjoyed rare sport with the many willing fish that frequent the shallows, crawling only the few that were hooked too deeply for safe release. There seems to be no end to the supply of these fish in this particular reservoir, which fortunately is no accessible to the many "pot" fishermen who seem intent on depleting our streams of all fish life as rapidly as possible.

Four small boys came along while I was fishing. They were armed with an ill-assorted array of tackle which promised little harm to any fish that was not stone blind. Their total catch for the day consisted of one very large crayfish, but their enthusiasm knew no bounds, and they so plagued me with questions and advice that I finally moved out and let them have my choicer spot. They were still fruitlessly churning the water when I drove away half an hour later.

Bit of Romance
We noted an interesting and quite impressive bit of romance among our wild cherry moth friends recently. One of the cocoons from last Winter's harvest had been slow in opening, and we hung it on the back porch. Finally a beautiful female emerged and quivered into active maturity against the screening. While lunching at noon the next day we discovered a male from somewhere down the valley had arrived to court the fair lady. By early evening two other champions had entered the lists, and the ardent trio fluttered about the screened-in porch until long after dark. These sure instincts in Nature's children make even Man's stem research seem kindergarten stuff.

PET CHIPMUNK
ERIE, Pa. (INS)—Ten-year-old Linda Michael has a small chipmunk that has grown so attached to her that it refuses to return to its natural habitat and always is waiting to be fed milk from a doll nursing bottle.

In the countries where the term rain makes shopping difficult, such as the Balkans, China, the Argentine, Chile and others, individual families keep goats. The children treat them as pets because goats and kids are friendly beasts. The milk and cheese are an essential part of the family diet in countries where all possible food products are made or raised at home.

Iowa Fair Board Removes Unliked W. P. A. Painting

DES MOINES, Ia., June 27.—(INS)—Iowa's pride in its farmers was restored today after the State Fair Board had disposed of a WPA painting which depicted the farmers in what the board felt was a disparaging manner.

The painting, which cost the federal government $13,000 back in depression days, was cut into lumber.

Lloyd B. Cunningham, secretary of the fair board, said: "There was a lot of good lumber in that picture, so we saved it up to make shelving for exhibits for the coming fair. Besides, the whole fair board was tired of being kidded about the picture."

"It was an insult to our pioneer Iowa farmers," he said. "It gave the impression that they were all club-footed, with heads about the size of small coconuts, necks as thick as barrels, and foreheads so low they might have just emerged from the Neanderthal stage. 'I'm sure all Iowa wants to forget about WPA.'"

Man In "Confession" To Chicago Crime In Beaver Co. Case

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 27.—(INS)—Richard Thomas, who the Phoenix, Ariz., sheriff said confessed to the kidnap-slaving of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan in Chicago last January, was sentenced in Beaver Falls in 1934 for an attempted extortion of $10,000 from a wealthy family.

Thomas, who was sentenced to five years in the Lewisburg penitentiary, attempted to extort the money from Nellie Beagle under a threat of harm to her son, Clifford. He was arrested when he picked up a dummy package at a telephone office in Rochester, Pa.

Rockford, Illinois, Soldier Is Seeking Marriage Annulment

Claims Commander Ordered His Marriage To Legitimize Child To British Girl

ROCKFORD, Ill., June 27.—(INS)—An annulment suit on file in circuit court today charges an overseas army commander forced a Rockford soldier to wed the British mother of a child of whom the former GI denies he is the father.

The suit seeks to set aside the marriage of Leslie Moore, 26, of Rockford to the former Joan Marshall, 18, who with her baby, Gene, is living with her husband's parents.

Moore's suit says he was serving with his outfit in Germany when his commanding officer ordered him to go to London and marry the girl in order to legitimize her three-month-old son.

Moore admitted in the annulment petition that he became acquainted with Miss Marshall while previously stationed in London, but he declared he had not been in England for 12 months before he was sent back for the wedding on March 2, 1945.

The war veteran said he never had lived with his wife. He returned to this country and was discharged last October 18, and his wife and the baby came to Rockford in March while Moore was in a hospital recovering from an operation.

The move was decreed by the president of the supreme Soviet.

New Senators Of State Take Oath In Capital Today

The new legislators were Louis Sax (R), Third Philadelphia district; Leonard A. Najaka (R), Fourth Luzerne district; Harry Cochran (D), Second Fayette district; and Raymond C. Kratz (R), Third Monticomey district.

WANT REVAMPING OF VOCATION WORK

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce today urged that public school vocational training be fashioned to meet local industrial and business needs.

The organization's sub-committee on education pointed out that "an occupational analysis of the community is a sensible basis on which to determine vocational training facilities."

An improved qualification standard, salary scale and teaching status was recommended for vocational instructors.

New Scout Group In Busy Week At Summer Camp Site

Sixty-Eight Boys Enrolled For This Week At Camp—Face Busy
Outdoor Schedule

Another group of Boy Scouts of the Lawrence County Council pulled into their summer camp on the banks of the Slippery Rock Sunday, June 23, with 68 boys registered for the week.

Following the afternoon registration, the Scouts enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner prepared by the camp cooks, Mrs. Susy Waid and Mrs. Lillian Sumner. The rest of the afternoon was devoted to swimming classification under the direction of William Crowell, waterfront director.

In the evening the Scouts attended a vesper service in the amphitheater, led by Rev. John Jones, Jr. Orientation talks were given the boys by J. Arthur Turek, woodcraft director, Harold Burry, camp supervisor, and William Crowell, swimming instructor.

Pass Axe Tests

Monday 38 tenderfoot Scouts passed their axe and knife tests in the "axe yard", a new facility at the camp. In the afternoon the boys learned scaling to aid in the drawing of maps. The evening featured a game of "capture the flag".

Tuesday 30 Scouts passed their fire building and cooking requirements, and were taken on a woodland hike by J. Arthur Turek at which time they identified 40 plants. Director Harold Burry showed the Scouts an interesting exhibit of captured Japanese articles taken from many places in the Pacific.

Wednesday morning the Scouts rose early and went on a bird hike with their leader, J. Arthur Turek, beginning at 5:00 a. m. Their route took them to the Jordan game farm where they studied the wildlife there. The Scouts identified some 30 varieties of birds during their hike.

The afternoon was devoted to tracking tests, both the half-mile and the mile. In the evening Nick Casillo, game warden, gave a talk to the boys in the amphitheater.

Rest Of Week

Today, the Scouts embarked on an adventure trail hike in the morning and this afternoon there was a softball game between the campers and the counselors. Movies will be shown in the evening.

A water meet, under the direction of William Crowell, will be a Friday feature. Knot-tying contests will be held also, in the "rope yard", and boxing matches will highlight the evening program.

Saturday the week will end with the morning devoted to free-lance work. Scouts may work on any project they desire, with merit badge endeavors featured.

In the evening there will be an impressive Indian fire ceremony in the amphitheater. Merit badges will be awarded and a summary of advancement for the week will be presented. The week will officially terminate with the ceremony of the old rugged cross.

Bridge Swimmers Again Harvesting Coins By Diving

It is quite in evidence on New Castle streets that summer is here. The annual kitzers are back on East Washington street bridge and the boys are swimming underneath or diving for coins.

Depression days are certainly over for the boys for they are coming up with nickels and dimes, as well as pennies. There doesn't seem to be much competition over the pennies, but there are tussles over the silver coins. One boy had 25 cents in less than an hour, enough to put him in the low income brackets.

Would Give Truman China Green Light

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—The House Foreign Affairs committee Wednesday reported favorably a bill authorizing the president to extend military aid to China whenever he deems it to be in the public interest.

The legislation was urged by Gen. George C. Marshall to strengthen his hand in stabilizing China and helping that nation fulfill its obligations under the United Nations charter.

The measure would authorize the president to detail American troops to assist the Chinese government whenever in his discretion the public interest should require such action.

The bill would also permit the president to provide training for Chinese military and navy personnel as well as technical advice and arms and ammunition, without restrictions upon the terms of the assistance.

Youth Faced With Charge Of Murder

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—John A. Howells, 14, of Lawnton, today was charged with the murder of three-year-old Margery Ann Vaughn, a neighbor.

The charge was filed with Alderman John L. Madden, Jr., of Harrisburg, who held Howells for the September term of court.

A regular hearing was postponed "probably for five days" due to the absence of Howells' attorney, Harold R. Provell of Harrisburg, Madden reported.

The youth, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy R. Howells, was adjudged sane by psychiatrists of the Harrisburg state hospital after re-enacting the strangling of the Vaughn child on the edge of a ravine near their homes.

A mock congress once was held by British soldiers in the House of Representatives chamber of the Capitol at Washington, D. C.

The club is under the supervision of Mrs. Florence Cline. The first project the club started was sewing on buttons. Next meeting will be held July 5 in the Presbyterian church.

No Shortage Of Teachers For City

Enough teachers have been lined up for the coming year to operate the school program adequately, although substitute teachers will be used in a number of classes, said School Superintendent Frank L. Burton today.

Music, art and health are the most difficult subjects to find teachers for, both in the elementary and secondary schools. In three places, the enrollment is such that the school board does not wish to hire regular teachers until the situation becomes more settled.

Many local teachers are taking summer courses this year—either short brush-up courses or all-summer work for master's degrees, Dr. Burton stated.

Conn And Manager Pay Up Income Tax

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—(INS)—Billy Conn and his manager, Johnny Ray, today paid a long-standing income tax debt with Uncle Sam.

Collector of Internal Revenue Stanley Granger in Pittsburgh reported Conn sent a check to satisfy two liens on the 1941 income totaling $26,477. Ray's check for a similar debt amounted to $11,033.

Granger said the income tax on last Wednesday's purse for the Joe Louis fight was not due until March.

Egypt Will Be Evacuated By British Troops

LONDON, June 27.—(INS)—The London Daily Express reported from Cairo today that Britain has agreed to Egyptian demands for complete evacuation of British troops.

The dispatch quoted Egyptian Premier Sidiqi Pasha as saying: "The British have now conceded Egypt's viewpoint."

Britain was said to be ready now to sign a new treaty permitting Empire troops to return to Egypt after evacuation only if war is actually declared.

Urges Individual Weather Forecasts

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—Do showers muddle up on your picnic? Typhoons wash out your golf matches? Does stormy weather ruin your year-long vacation plans? Then this message is directed to you—to show you how you can be your own weatherman and worst enemy.

Dr. Francis Reichelderfer, chief of the U. S. weather bureau, today encouraged private weather forecasting to supplement the general information furnished by the government weather prophets.

He said that increased private demands for specialized weather forecasts have brought about "a steadily-growing field of private meteorology."

The local weather man when apprised of this statement agreed that this was a good thing but added:

"I guess we can't get out of the blame no matter how you look at it. It's still our necks if anything goes wrong."

Dr. Reichelderfer put it this way: "There is plenty of room in this country for both private meteorologists and the public weather service. The policy of the weather bureau is to cooperate with private meteorologists as much as possible."

So don't shoot the weatherman. Just get out your barometer, thermometer and hour glass and get to work. The results will astound you.

WARN AGAINST STREAM POLLUTION

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—Small businesses were warned today by the state sanitary water board to guard against unintentional pollution of Pennsylvania streams.

A great amount of damage is caused by wastes from small firms, many of which probably are not conscious of the fact that they are contributing to the pollution problem, said State Health Secretary Harry W. Weest, chairman.

He listed garages, paint shop, textile works, lumber mills, canneries and slaughter houses as "frequent polluters."

WILSON COLLEGE TO ADMIT MALES

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 27.—(INS)—Hey, fellows! Wilson college, an exclusive school for women since 1870, will admit male students for the fall semester but you'll have to find your own living quarters in Chambersburg.

The trustees announced today that the decision to admit male students for the first time in the college's history was prompted by recognition of the nationwide shortage of educational facilities.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF HOMES AND FARMS

IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

YOU ARE URGED TO ATTEND AN IMPORTANT MEETING

TO BE HELD IN THE CITY BUILDING, NEW CASTLE

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 28

BEGINNING AT 8:00 P. M.

This important meeting is open to ALL home and farm owners in Lawrence county. Special speakers have been secured to tell what is happening and what can be done to help in the nation-wide battle against socialization of all property.

A few weeks ago a group of New Castle home owners organized themselves into a unit of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation, a national organization which has a variety of aims, all geared towards the protection of home owners and their properties.

The national organization came into being about a year ago when a number of citizens over the country felt the time had come for home owners to organize if they wanted to get a fair hearing before legislative bodies in the matter of taxes, and in legislation affecting home ownership.

In addition to national problems there are also local problems. With a progressive organization in Lawrence county we can do much to extend and protect property ownership. The meeting scheduled for Friday night is of vital interest to every property owner in the county.

Hotel Prexy Wins Highest Civilian Award

NEW YORK.—(INS)—From a $5 a week elevator operator to chairman of the board of one of the nation's leading hotel chains—that is the success story of John L. Hennessy of New York.

Hennessy, who started as a freight elevator operator in a Buffalo hotel, recently was presented the War department's highest civilian award—the exceptional civilian service citation—for his contribution to the morale and welfare of the American soldier.

During the war years Hennessy was food consultant to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, and initiated the Army's now famed 14-day menus. He also trained and guided Army cooks.

General Brehon Somervell, recently appointed president of Koppers company, named Hennessy to set up Army's redistribution program.

Hennessy, remembering the days he was pushed around as an elevator operator, set to work and leased 50 of the country's finest resort hotels from Florida to California.

At these resorts soldiers, fresh from combat and committed to other weeks of relaxation, it meant a chance to swim, play golf, or tennis or just loaf and pay no attention to Army regulations.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kans.—(INS)—Mrs. Rex Garris was sure it could not have been the brake which blocked her automobile's exit from the garage. She was right. When she finally backed into the driveway, a glance showed the garage door lying on the ground.

See Car Phones By Late Summer

LOS ANGELES.—(INS)—Telephone in automobiles—one of your pet postwar dreams—will become a reality by late summer.

This was indicated today by officials of the Southern California Telephone Company. Application already has been made to the Federal Communications Commission to experiment with car phones.

Phone company bosses said truck drivers will be able to talk to home offices, passengers converse from car to car or with regular subscribers and drivers of automobiles will be placing calls to ships in mid-ocean.

Rates will approximate those of home subscribers.

A hobby show is being planned for next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Shirley Webber is director of the playground.

Guyler Is New VA Head At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—(INS)—Alvin R. Guyler has begun his new duties as manager of the Veterans Administration's Pittsburgh regional office, succeeding Kenneth S. Covey, who had served over two years as head of the VA's Pittsburgh office.

Announcement of Mr. Guyler's appointment was made by Robert W. Wilson, deputy administrator of VA Branch Office No. 3, Philadelphia on Saturday when Mr. Covey's transfer to the Philadelphia branch office was also announced. The VA's Pittsburgh regional area includes 31 counties in western Pennsylvania and four in West Virginia.

In the United States the cultivation of one acre of corn represents only about two and one-half man-days; in China, it represents about 23.

Governor Martin Not To Fill Six State Vacancies

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin was satisfied today to complete the last six months of his administration without filling six of the more lucrative positions vacant on state boards.

He said no appointments were planned as long as the agencies continued to operate efficiently.

The vacancies included a $9,500 a year post never filled on the state parole board and a $10,000 a year position on the state liquor control board. The L. C. B. vacancy has existed since 1941.

Governor Martin said he had not filled the posts because the work of both boards was "absolutely up to date."

"There are a lot of jobs around Capitol Hill that are not filled," Governor Martin declared. "That's because I've been trying to operate this government as economically as I know how."

Other vacancies included the milk control commission, $6,000; the state civil service commission, $7,000; the public utility commission, $10,000; and the state securities commission, $7,000.

Husband Held For Killing Daughters

California Man Beats Babies To Death With Hammer: Fractured Wife's Skull

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., June 27.—(INS)—Vernon Newton, 24-year-old Alameda glazier, was enroute today to Redwood City in the custody of San Mateo County authorities to face charges of murdering his two baby daughters and attempting to kill his young wife. Undersheriff Walter Moore and Assistant District Attorney Fred M. Wyckoff grilled Newton briefly in the county jail at Auburn but said the prisoner steadily maintained his innocence. Newton was still barefooted and clad in the wet clothing he had on when he was arrested but he was provided with new clothes before leaving for Redwood City. Newton gasped out an incoherent story of a "mental blackout" which he said left him without any memory of events since he and his family took an automobile ride Monday down the coast south of San Francisco. B. A. Hankins, of Oceanside, Calif., picked up Newton wet and bleeding yesterday and took him to the Tahoe office of Dr. C. B. Pedersen.

The doctor's nurse, Miss Marilyn Laird, identified the man from newspaper photographs. In San Mateo County hospital, Newton's wife, Lorraine, 21, was described as in "critical" condition with a fractured skull. Authorities said that she and her children—Barbara Ann, 2, and Caroline Lee eight months—were apparently viciously beaten with the sharp end of a clawhammer.

Raccoon Proven Jackson Forager

John McCord residing near Mt. Jackson, in the early morning of Monday, heard one of his chickens squall in the coop. Some of the neighbors also heard the rumpus, and went to the scene.

Upon investigation Mr. McCord found that two of his chickens had been killed by some animal, that he observed had jumped into a nearby tree. It was thought the miscreant was a wild cat, but upon sighting it in the tree and shooting it down, the animal proved to be a raccoon.

This is the first case known to Norman Kuhn, constable of North Beaver township, this year, of foraging by a raccoon in a chicken coop. There were a couple of such depredations by these animals last year.

Captain Miller Given Freedom

New York Court Suspends Sentence On Man Who Killed Wife's Lover

NEW YORK, June 27.—(INS)—Capt. Archie Miller, war hero who pleaded guilty to manslaughter rather than permit his wife to tell publicly the story of her faithless love, on Wednesday regained his freedom.

The 25-year-old army signal corps officer who admitted killing his wife's lover was given a suspended sentence and placed on indefinite probation by Judge John A. Mullen.

Confessed Shooting

Miller had confessed shooting Capt. Eugene Dale, 27, whom he found had stolen the love of his wife, Fay Hancock Miller, when he returned from war duty overseas.

As he stood Wednesday, gaunt, haggard and erect, to receive his sentence, Judge Mullen remarked:

"The problem is whether you need punishment or not. Punishment is to set an example to society. It is also to prevent other acts of violence. I don't think it is necessary to make an example of you for society."

"It is a sad day for a devoted husband with red blood in his veins not to do something about a situation like this when he comes home and finds his home violated. I realize the provocation on his part."

Found Wife In Apartment

Miller admitted he killed Captain Dale, a Bataan death march survivor, after finding his pretty blonde wife, the former Fay Hancock of Jonesboro, N. C., a powers model, with Dale in her New York apartment.

Miller, who comes from Texas, shot Dale with a .45 caliber revolver and Dale was rushed to a hospital where 30 hours later he died. Fay remained at his side until the end, and attended his funeral in Oklahoma.

She agreed to be the state's witness against Archie.

Miller, however, against the advice of his attorneys, James D. C. Murray, refused to go to trial. Murray, almost in tears, said:

"If ever a 100 percent man stood at the bar of justice, this is the man! I feel justified in stating that no jury would convict him of any degree of crime. But his gallantry has sealed my lips."

Defends Daughter

Meanwhile, Fay's father, John T. Hancock, wealthy tobacco planter, defended his daughter, who had been staying in the Hancock home but recently departed by bus for Raleigh, N. C. He said the whole story has not yet been told.

As reconstructed, the story is that Miller and pretty, pert Fay Hancock were married in 1943, and Archie was sent overseas. He came home Nov. 1, 1945, and soon discovered that his wife was in love with Dale, and intended to seek a divorce to marry the flyer.

Finally, he went to Fay's parents in North Carolina, begging them to intercede, but they could do nothing.

Miller spent Christmas in his wife's apartment. He went out and came back to the apartment. There, according to the testimony, he found Mrs. Miller and Dale. Fay helped him to pack his clothes.

In a rage of jealousy, he rushed into the living-room and shot his rival with the souvenir German pistol.

News Hungry Sports Editor Started Iron-Oil League

News doesn't always happen. Sometimes it is "made". That is to say, a newspaper man sometimes tees off with an idea that later works itself into some good copy, all of which is received with very good grace indeed by the city editor.

Which is why the Iron and Oil Baseball league was in existence in the year 1894. It's also the reason for this article which has to do with the Iron and Oil league, how it happened and why.

Needed Copy

Back in the fall of 1893 the sports editor of the New Castle News was a little shy on copy. Baseball was about done for the summer, what there was of it; basketball hadn't been heard of; football was some queer sport which long haired college boys played and boxing was never referred to in polite society.

The S. E. needed copy, and it looked as though he would have to pick something out of the air. And then he had an idea. Even sports editors have them occasionally and this one proved to be a dandy.

Why not start a baseball league in this section of western Pennsylvania? There were some pretty good teams scattered around within 50 miles of New Castle. And anyhow the sports editor needed copy. The copy started to roll and the sports editor harped on one string for a while.

In a little time men in neighboring cities took to the idea and one afternoon the sports editor went to a meeting in Oil City. There the Iron and Oil league was born with teams representing New Castle, Sharon, Warren, Pa., Titusville, Franklin and Oil City comprising the loop. A Pittsburgh newspaper man, Charley Powers, sports editor of the old Pittsburgh Leader, was chosen president.

"You've Got a Team"

In the press of turning out copy in behalf of a league and in his sales talks to New Castle men the New Castle News sports editor overlooked the fact that New Castle didn't have a team. He came back from the Oil City meeting and said to Charley Warnock, a New Castle business man, "You've got a team in the league. Charley, now let's go out and get it together."

A meeting of Danny Harlan, Jim Sullivan, Scott Paisley, Dr. Joseph Cooper, Frank Tidball, J. Lee McFate, John Andy McKee and Charley Warnock was called and the team was organized. Dr. Cooper was named president, J. Lee McFate named secretary.

Another little detail that had been overlooked was a place to play. There wasn't a league field in New Castle. Mr. McKee said he had a relative in the lumber business up teams had some difficulties, financial probably, and dropped out. But for several months New Castle fans saw some bang up baseball down on South Mill street and the sports editor of The News had a constant flow of good copy.

The Iron and Oil league was really the pappy of the Interstate league which was formed a couple of years later. New Castle also had a team in that league and gave a good account of itself.

And that's how it started. A sports editor hungry for copy, an idea, a little hard work and there you have it. Oh yes, you might be interested in knowing the name of the sports editor who dreamed up the Iron and Oil league in order to get copy.

It was and is J. Lee McFate. Later he left the ranks of newspapermen and was the county detective for Lawrence county. Still later he went into the wholesale candy business in the firm of McFate & Lockhart. Several years ago he retired from active life but the war stopped all that nonsense.

He was called back into public life as the chief clerk of the Office of Price Administration and holds that position today. Any time you feel like cursing out the OPA remember that the local head of it was a pretty good guy one time. And out of his dreaming of copy came a good baseball league, a good team for New Castle and a lot of sport for the fans. He still insists he could go out and field a fast hunt with the best of them, but we're a trifle doubtful of that.

Forty-One Claimants Lose Compensation During April, May

Nineteen claimants for state unemployment compensation were disqualified in May and 22 in April, according to figures from the local office of the U. S. Employment Office.

Of those disqualified in May, 10 quit voluntarily, four were disqualified for misconduct, and five were unable to take positions offered. No ex-servicemen lost their S. R. A. in April or May, but several have been disqualified in June.

Waiting is tough on us, too

For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently.

Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.)

Look what has happened!

Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year.

In the meantime . . .

Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since 'way back.

But to make life more complicated, every body seems to want one of these new Packards. Over 65% of the people on our new Packards are now driving some other make.

Honest, it's gotten so we have to answer the telephone or look our friends in the face. But . . .

Your patience will pay off!

One of these days, the shortage of parts and materials is bound to ease up. And when it does, those twin-assembly lines at Packard will really roll.

Anyway, you can depend on this:

As fast as the factory ships cars to us, we'll do everything we can to deliver yours at the earliest possible moment.

So, we hope you'll be patient a little longer. We're doing the best we can, and so are the folks at the factory!

Long Delay Seen In Mines Return

Release Of Bituminous In- dustry From Federal Con- trol Unlikely Soon

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(INS)—Release of the bituminous coal industry from federal control appears likely to be indefinitely delayed today by the current controversy raging over the unionization of foremen.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. planned to continue its fight to prevent the government from signing a contract with the United Mine Workers' supervisory employees union.

Attorneys for the company indicated that an appeal will be taken immediately from a federal district court ruling granting the coal mines administrator to proceed with negotiations covering 135 foremen in four of the firm's Pennsylvania mines.

Justice Jennings Bailey dismissed Jones & Laughlin's petition for a preliminary injunction. The government implied that halting the negotiations with the foremen's union might precipitate another nationwide coal strike.

Interior Secretary J. A. Krag termed the foremen's issue "one of the most difficult problems we have to handle." He added that the mines would not be returned to their owners "as long as the threat of a strike exists."

Krag was asked at a news conference whether government possession might last "indefinitely—perhaps for years." He replied it was "possible to theorize on that," expressing belief that the operators "are not too anxious at the moment" to regain the mines.

General Motors Club Has Dinner Meeting

Guests Enjoy Dinner And Motion
Picture Wednesday Night
In Hotel

Industrial Medicine, once considered a fad, but long since recognized as a major contribution to industrial success, was high lighted Wednesday night in the Castleton Hotel when the General Motors club held a dinner meeting. Present were dealers and guests from Lawrence, Mercer, Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana counties.

The feature of the evening was an interesting motion picture depicting the advance of industrial medicine as portrayed by the life history of Dr. Kenneth W. Randall. The picture showed the early beginning of the idea down to the present day when such companies as General Motors have large medical and nursing staffs, hospitals and laboratories.

Don Schuette of Youngstown, president of the club presided and introduced a number of guests. Mr. Schuette spoke briefly and called upon Dr. Paul H. Wilson, co-chairman for remarks. A number of local physicians and nurses were special guests.

The combination of a good dinner, an interesting picture, and fellowship made for a pleasant and instructive evening.

Dodgers And Red Sox Lead Through Determination

Cardinals - Yanks Finding It Hard To Overcome Lead

Both Brooklyn And Boston Have Will To Win Despite Obstacles

PIRATES DROP ONE TO GIANTS

NEW YORK, June 27.—(INS)—That peculiar talent for finding time to stave off impending disaster, supposedly the measure of a champion, is strikingly presented again today by both the league-leading Red Sox and Dodgers.

The latter for instance, trailed the Red Sox into the seventh inning yesterday while no one on the score board that the St. Louis Cardinals were well on their way to victory in Philadelphia.

With that, the Brooklyn gamesters came through with a two-run rally to beat Ed Hensen and the Red Sox 4-2 on Dixie Walker's triple.

At the same time, the Red Sox had absorbed a 16-2 shellacking from the Tigers in the first game of a double header with Newhouse fanning 11 while coasting to his 15th victory.

The Sox were trailing, 3-2, in the eighth inning of the second game with the threatened double defeat about to reduce their lead to six games—the least it has been since early May.

But, as has happened so many times this season, Boston erupted in a spurge of scoring at the psychological moment to send seven runs over the plate—and Vinny Truck to the cooler. The final score was 9-3, with the Sox sacrificing only a half-game to the Yankees on the day.

With the significant July 4 marker looming dead ahead, time indeed, was soon to make itself something of a factor in the repeated attempts of the Cardinals and Yankees to challenge the two leaders.

Practically the entire month of June has found the Cards precisely where they were when the month began—three games back. They grew up to within a game and a half on June 13, then fell back again—losing their first series to the Dodgers earlier in the eastern swing.

The Braves, meanwhile, kept in the hunt for third place in the other league by beating the Cubs and Hank Wase 11-2, to take the series from the 45 champions. The Giants and Pirates again traded their cellar position as a result of Dave Koslo's five-hit, 4-0 victory.

An anti-climax gave the Senators a 4-3 decision over the White Sox in 16 innings. Bob Kennedy's error allowing Hudson to score the winning run capped the Browns' trouncing the Philadelphia Athletics 11-4.

The Robinson Deep Mine of the Rand Gold Field, in South Africa, is the deepest mine in the world. Its depth is approximately 8,300 feet.

Ed Leeper Blanks New Galilee, 1-0

NEW GALILEE, June 27.—Manager Ed Leeper of the Edenburgh Tigers pitched himself quite a ball game here last night as he slapped a whitewash job on the second place Hot Tots, 1-0, allowing but four hits.

The slim pilot of the Tigers nudged beautiful ball throughout. New Galilee never threatening to rally.

John Dicianne was on the hill for the Hot Tots and although he pitched a fine five-hitter, he had the misfortune of running into the Tigers when they played the best ball of the season.

Frankie Perrine, Edenburgh's young catcher, was painfully injured in the face during the game when a foul tip struck him in the face. He will be on the sidelines for a week.

State LRB Sets Hearing Date On Murphy's Petition

Hearing In Pittsburgh July 2 Will Scrutinize Baseball Guild-Pirate Dispute

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—The State Labor Relations Board Wednesday scheduled a hearing at Pittsburgh July 2 to scrutinize the collective bargaining dispute embracing the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League.

Secretary J. B. Bryerton said Robert Murphy, of Boston, Mass., Labor Relations director for the American Baseball Guild, had asked for certification as bargaining representative.

Although the club is owned by a Pennsylvania firm, the Pittsburgh Athletic Co., there were indications that the dispute would end up before a National Labor Relations Board because the team is engaged in interstate business.

"The question as to whether the Pirates engage in interstate business will be developed at the hearing," Bryerton said.

Conrad H. Checco, a trial examiner, will supervise the meeting in the Arrol building at 9:30 a.m. Bryerton reported.

Mangrum Standout Favorite To Win Canadian Tourney

BEACONSFIELD, Quebec, June 27.—(INS)—Lloyd Mangrum, recent winner of the United States open golf crown, was the standout favorite today as a field of 132 top flight U. S. and Canadian par-busters began play in the Canadian open championship.

A gold cup and $10,000 in prize money rode on the outcome of the four-day event, which Byron Nelson won last year and has passed up this time.

With a new champion to be crowned these American professionals were in the competition.

Vic Ghezzi, who leadlocked Mangrum and Nelson in the U. S. open and lost in a playoff, Ky. Laffoon, Ellsworth Vines, George Fazio, Tony Penna, Dutch Harrison, Ed Oliver, Craig Wood, and Herman Barron.

Universals To Battle Indies This Evening

Lawrence Indies Have Three Tough Games, In City League

PLAY COLUMBUS CLUB ON FRIDAY

The Lawrence Indies with 18 wins and one defeat in the City baseball league can win the first-half championship by winning two out of their next three postponed games, starting tonight with the Universals at Cedar Street at 6 o'clock.

If the Indies win tonight and defeat the Columbus Club at the E. & A. Field Friday night, the first-half pennant will fly from the Indies flag pole at Cedar Street Field as the start of the second half.

Arrange Sunday Game
Providing either the Universals or Columbus Club defeat the Zidomen, the Legion will still have a chance and will play the Indies Sunday at Washington Field at 3 o'clock in another postponed affair.

The Legion has won 13 and lost three. The Indies and Legion game will be played Sunday regardless of the outcome of the game tonight and Friday if the Indies should win both of them, it was announced.

Other postponed games arranged last night at the City league meeting were as follows: Legion vs. Moose Club at Washington next Tuesday and the Legion vs. Columbus Club at E. & A. Field next Wednesday.

The next meeting of the City league will be held Wednesday, July 17 at 8 o'clock at Carm's Place for the purpose of handing in second half contracts.

By-Laws Amended
It was decided by the managers last night at the meeting to start the second half on Sunday, July 17, going on the assumption that a first half winner will have been declared by that time.

The managers went on record last night adopting the Harwood and Goldenhill balls for league play the second half, and also added an amendment to the by-laws of the league as follows: Any team that walks off the field before a game is completed in the second half is fined $5 by the league, must also pay umpires, and forfeit the game.

Sheiff Ball, manager of the Legion team has announced the resignation of the following players: Cyril Mellichor, Francis Labosky, and Hank Falter.

Bauder Hurls One-Hit Victory

ELLWOOD CITY, June 27.—Ellsworth Bauder, Elks' brilliant young pitcher, narrowly missed the hall of fame last night as he set down the Castledown club 9 to 1 on one hit.

Bauder's feat is all the more remarkable when it is considered his teammates were none too steady in the field, committing four miscues.

Harold Johns was on the rubber for the Castles and was blasted in the sixth when the Elks poured eight runs across the plate. Bauder was Mills' tripple with two on.

The victory kept the Elks out in front in the County league race.

Dubber Dollies To Play Friday

Dubber Dollies at Castle Hills course are looking forward to Friday evening and another round of golf in their time league. The matches will start at 3:30 o'clock and will complete a month of league play.

The lady golfers have been turning out great at Castle Hills and are enjoying their various matches in league competition. The Pats team captained by Ruth Matthews is currently leading the league. It was announced by co-chairladies—Jeanie Webster and Naomi Surridge.

CITES EXAMPLES FOR ACCURACY

By CHARLES EISEN
(International News Service Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, June 27.—Nick Kearns, the gray-haired gentleman who has 35 years as a basketball official in his wake, today was on record with a startling admission.

Kearns said:
"An official can easily be the cause when a team loses a close one. He can be directly responsible. And if he is, it is probably the fault of the country's basketball coaches."

The setting for this somewhat unique outburst was the Electric Club in downtown Chicago where, before a select gathering, the Encyclopedia Britannica previewed its first excursion into the field of instructional sports films.

Kearns speaks piece
Shown were basic reels for proper maneuvers in football and basketball—blocking, tackling and ball-handling in football; shooting, passing and ball-handling in basketball.

And in the midst of it all stood Nick Kearns, addressing himself to the assembled Britannica executives and remarking:
"This is all very fine. It will undoubtedly do a lot of good. But let me say, gentlemen, that if you really want to teach where teaching will do the most good, get out a film on how to officiate a basketball game."

"I have seen basketball until the basketballs ran out of my ears. I have heard coaches curse officials because they lost a close one."

"But not one of those coaches—no, not one—ever spent a nickel toward teaching a referee how to do his job."

Plans Officials School
Taking a case in point, Nick, who soon will conduct an officials' school of his own as a part of his job with the state of Illinois, declared:

"I doubt if there is one official in the business today who knows the difference between a block and a charge."

"Suppose the score is tied at 30-30 and two players each have four fouls on them. One is guarding the other, who receives a pass. He gets rid of the ball as he turns toward his guard. His team scores a basket."

"Now, if that was blocking on the guard's part, he's out of the game on five fouls; you have a basket and a free throw."

"But maybe it wasn't blocking—suppose it was charging on the offensive man's part. Then he's out on five fouls and his guard gets the free throw with no basket being scored. That's a potential difference of four points—and not one official in the country can call it accurately!"

NEW YORK, June 27.—Hot off the Broadway grille... Multimillionaire Dan Topping... N. Y. Yanks baseball and football and tin... regrets Yank Stadium can't hold half a million... because he's turned back 100,000 advance bids for Yankee-Red Sox night game July 2... which already has SRO sign out... house that Babe Ruth built seats exactly 66,512.

Dan, who looks like a Spanish bullfighter... talks like Park Avenue... acts strictly Broadway... and spends dough like Wall Street... also boasts his football team... in the All-American conference... which has yet to play one game... will have quarter of a million advance sale.

And Horace (N. Y. Giants) Stoneham says his trailing club... saddest in Giants' history... has already sold out for July 4 game with Dodgers.

Joe Isn't Worried
Topping admits anybody can make dough in sports these days... says nobody can lose... intimates there's more gold in sports than in tin...

Which reminds us Mike Jacobs hasn't been able to get Joe Louis in off the golf course long enough to pay him his cough... for plastering Billy Conn... still, that's only a trifling $600,000 plus.

Each all America conference... football team... New York, Brooklyn, Buffalo and Miami in East... and Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles and San Francisco... will have its own chartered plane... to travel for every game.

Another innovation... each club plays every other club in league... seven games at home and seven abroad.

Good Old Topping

Topping is taking 61 footballers to train at Gonzaga University... and is inviting scribes... and Coach Ray Flaherty says his squad will compare favorably with any team that ever trod a gridiron.

Mrs. Zaharias Favored To Win

DES MOINES, Ia., June 27.—(INS)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias remained the favorite today to successfully defend her women's open golf championship as the tournament moved into the quarter-final round at Wakonda Country club at Des Moines.

Mrs. Zaharias scored a 6 and 5 second round victory yesterday over Jean Hutto, Kansas City junior college student, by shooting a three under women's par. The defending champion faces Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., in the quarter-final play.

Just Say Federal, That's All, Brother

When you say Federal you sum it all up in quality trucks. No need to say you want quality, ruggedness, long life, and dependability. When you say Federal there is nothing else you need to say.

For that extra tough hauling job you have, for all around goodness in trucks, just say Federal. And of course we have them.

Plan For Aggressive Campaigns In State; Other State News Notes

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—Republican and Democratic national organizations plan aggressive campaigns in Pennsylvania this fall, an indication of the importance political chiefs place on the commonwealth. It has been reported that the parent organizations would not only supply some funds for the campaign chests but would send leaders into Pennsylvania to "stump the state."

There have been unconfirmed reports that some motion picture actors and actresses may come to Pennsylvania this fall from Hollywood and actively support the campaign of blind Marine Sgt. Al Schmid of Philadelphia, Democratic nominee for secretary of internal affairs. The life of Schmid, who was blinded on Guadalcanal where he killed 200 Japanese in 1942, was depicted in a motion picture.

John U. Shroyer of Shamokin, former highways secretary and unsuccessful insurgent Republican gubernatorial candidate, has filed his campaign expense account with the state elections bureau showing that contributions to his drive totaled $5000. After reporting various expenses running into hundreds of dollars, Shroyer added a note of humor by pointing out that "many of my meals were free."

Although Republican and Democratic party chiefs have reported that their fall campaigns would not get underway until after Labor Day, it was anticipated that candidates would "build a little good will" by attending picnics and rallies during the summer months.

expected to be formulated about Labor Day, will not contain planks that would offend independent voters who have appeared in political circles. Some Democratic and Republican chiefs have pointed out that both organizations were anxious to garner the ballots of independent voters and would carefully consider all planks before announcing the platforms.

A few political chiefs have predicted that fall employment practices legislation, legalized horse racing and bingo would be important issues at the General Assembly next year. Similar legislation was proposed to the legislature during 1945 but was rejected.

The death of Vance C. McCormick, Harrisburg publisher and former Democratic national chairman, has removed from Pennsylvania politics one of the commonwealth's most conservative Democratic leaders. A national figure for more than 30 years, he was Democratic national chairman in 1916 and a confidant of President Woodrow Wilson. Mr. McCormick, a former mayor of Harrisburg, was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1914. He died June 26 at Harrisburg.

"A Record of Achievement," a small red booklet published by the state to broadcast the accomplishments of Gov. Edward Martin's administration from 1943 to 1945, has shown that the commonwealth's 34,217 miles of improved highways were valued at $1,088,000,000. In addition, highway buildings, trucks and other equipment was valued at $10,449,000.

John R. Cadwallader of Meadville, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor at the primary election, received very little publicity during the drive but nevertheless polled an impressive 204,867 votes. Some chiefs noted that the large vote received by Cadwallader to the fact that his name appeared first on the ballot. The organization-endorsed candidate, Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler of Lancaster, who drew second place on the ballot, garnered 665,736 votes. Strickler reported that he spent less than $100 during the campaign while Cadwallader listed $175.25.

Hunt Two Young Escaped Convicts

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 27.—(INS)—State police today sought two young convicts who walked out of the gates of Lehigh county jail while helping to "police up" the prison lawn.

The fugitives are Mike Senkovich, 22, and Charles Saul, 26, both of Allentown. Both men were described as notorious police characters.

The oldest recognized culture in eastern U.S., the Archaic, was more easily defined in 1945 in the description of a site on Frontenac island, Cayuga Lake, N. Y.

Use Spore Dust In Jap Beetle Control Effort

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(INS)—Limited quantities of Japanese beetle "milky disease" spores will be placed in the ground on open grasslands in several southeastern Pennsylvania counties early in July as a beetle eradication measure, the Bureau of Plant Industry, State Department of Agriculture has announced.

The disease is harmless to all living things except the grubs of Japanese beetles, says Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the bureau. When stricken with the disease, beetle grubs turn white and die. For beetle eradication purposes, entomologists gather grubs that have had the disease, dry and grind them, add talc and place the resulting spore dust in the ground in areas where beetle infestation is heavy.

All golf courses, most cemeteries and many parks in southeastern Pennsylvania have been treated with milky disease during the past six years, Dr. Guyton reported.

Convict 31 In Firearms Trials At Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, June 27.—(INS)—A British court in Jerusalem convicted 31 Jewish extremists Wednesday of carrying firearms a crime which may carry a death sentence. The 30 men and one woman found guilty are members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, extremist group which has been holding three British officers as hostages under threat of death if the court metes out the supreme penalty.

Six officers were kidnaped originally by the Irgunists but one escaped subsequently, and two others were released.

In addition to the general conviction of possessing firearms, Benjamin Kaplan, 19-year-old carpenter, was found guilty of firing a weapon.

The court convictions are expected to precipitate fresh tension and possibly more bloodshed in the Holy Land which has been in a turbulent state for the past fortnight as a result of the activities of the Jewish extremist groups.

Earlier in the day, another 19-year-old youth shouted defiance of British authority in the Holy Land in the packed courtroom.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Devotional Leaders

David Gatrall, director of boys' work in the central branch of the Y. M. C. A., announced today that five ministers of the city have been obtained to lead the devotional services for the summer vacation club which begins July 8.

Pastors who will open the daily sessions are as follows: Rev. Walter Gilliland, Savannah Methodist church; Rev. Burr McKnight, First Methodist church; Rev. O. W. Hurst, First Baptist church; Rev. A. E. Simon, St. John's Lutheran, and Rev. George R. D. Braun, Epworth Methodist church.

Membership Growing

Membership at the "Y" is increasing steadily and if it continues at the present pace, the all-time record for enrollment will be surpassed, it was told today by staff representatives of the branch.

To date some 450 boys are enrolled at the association, far above the total for 1945. All-time high at the branch was some 500 members and it is felt that a new record will be established this year.
